After France's Troubles With Algeria

West Germany Seen Third Military Power In NATO

PARIS (AP)—West Germany is becoming the third most important military power in the Atlantic Alliance, taking the place left vacant by France's troubles in Algeria and her disputes with her allies.

This picture emerged from the annual assessment of NATO strength. The meeting of ministers from the 15 treaty nations headed to its conclusion tonight with big gains for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany and losses for French Premier Charles de Gaulle.

Not that there was any dispute between representatives of the two leaders. Since De Gaulle became premier June 1, circumstances have made them friends seeking the same goals—at least over the short range.

But the Germans were NATO's fair-haired boys. The French had to defend their military shortcomings and failed to win the top place in Allied councils which De Gaulle seeks.

All 15 countries agreed with the military goals presented by the supreme Allied commander, U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad. But an official spokesman added that Norstad's program of 30 combat-ready divisions at full strength and of speeding up development of nuclear weapons was accepted only as an objective. This was an admission that some nations, notably France, are dragging their feet.

For several years NATO military planners have been disturbed by France's inabilty to end the Algerian rebellion and bring back to Europe the several hundred thousand troops sent to quell the nationalist uprising.

During those years the West Germans have been building a new military force. Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss said by the end of March West Germany will have a 200,000-man force in the NATO defense line.

A further indication of West Germany's emergence as the West's major continental military power was contained in the report that for the first time Germans will produce missiles. They will work with France and Italy on antiaircraft missiles which probably will be equipped eventually with nuclear warheads, informants said.

French Army Minister Pierre Guillaumant defended his country's sparse contribution to NATO defenses. He said France would do its best to fulfill its European role but it has many overseas obligations and is "holding the flank of NATO," meaning North Africa.

Dulles Bares Progress On Talks For Test Ban

PARIS (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today reported to North Atlantic Treaty Organization members that a little progress has been made in talks with the Soviet Union on suspending nuclear tests.

But, he said, it is premature to be optimistic as to ultimate success because the Soviet views on the nature of control differ sharply from the views of the Western powers.

May Be Little Better

Yule Business Is Expected To Equal That Of Last Year

NEW YORK (AP)—"Christmas business will equal last year and may be a little better. But it's not running away."

This cautiously phrased comment from M. E. Arnett, vice president of Bullock's Department Store in Los Angeles, typifies the attitude of hundreds of retailers across the country interviewed by The Associated Press in a survey of Christmas business prospects.

Most are confident of beating last year's record totals (thanks in part to slightly higher prices and an extra shopping day). But few see anything that resembles a real boom.

"There's more cash in town this year," says Charles E. Boyd of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce, "but people aren't spending the money."

Brightest spot on the 1958 Christmas retail scene is Texas.

"There's no doubt but that the buying public has the money and a disposition to spend it," declares a merchant in Fort Worth. "To say business is good is putting it mildly, for if it gets any better it will be terrific."

And an Abilene, Tex., store official states: "If it was any better I don't know what I'd do."

Christmas business is good in Denver. High on the list of wanted merchandise are such relatively costly items as stereophonic hi-fi sets, pianos, organs, outboard motors and boats.

But in Cleveland, Pittsburgh and New Orleans, merchants hope to match last year's sales but are not sure they will.

Big retailers say they've been doing as well or better than last year but they're comparing current business with a brutally tough 1957 period when traffic was snarled by a subway strike. Most say telephone and mail order business — which amounts to 15 per cent of total Christmas sales — is down sharply.

Store traffic held up fairly well in the early days of the newspaper blackout but declined as the strike entered its second week. Another strike-inspired problem: How to get rid of specially priced gift items the stores had intended to push via spectacular sales campaigns. Warehouses are bursting with merchandise of this type.

Geneva Talks On Surprise Attacks Failed

GENEVA (AP) — The 10-nation conference on prevention of surprise attacks ended today in complete failure.

The talks never got down to a serious discussion of a surprise attack alert system because East and West were in total disagreement on the very purpose of the conference.

The Soviet bloc made a vain effort at the 4½-hour final meeting to have Jan. 5—or any other date — fixed for resumption of the talks.

The Western group, led by William C. Foster of the United States, firmly told the Soviet bloc it was useless to reconvene unless an agreed basis for the discussions could be established in direct contacts between the governments concerned.

The United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada represented the North Atlantic Treaty powers; and the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Albania the East bloc.

The conference opened Nov. 10 and became bogged down from the start in procedural arguments.

The Western side submitted numerous technical proposals in the hope the Soviet bloc would agree to discuss these without bringing up political issues.

Hays-Alford Dispute May Rock House

Special Committee Votes Against Seat For Segregationist

WASHINGTON (AP — The Hays-Alford election dispute moved today toward a possibly bitter fight that could rock the House.

A special House committee voted 3-2 Wednesday to recommend that Dr. Dale Alford, Little Rock segregationist, be denied a seat pending an investigation into charges of irregularities and fraud in his election. The two no votes came from Southerners.

Alford, who testified he believed he was elected honestly, promised to push his case at once.

Alford entered the November election at virtually the last minute.

Running as a write-in candidate, he beat Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark), an avowed moderate on segregation, by about 1,200 votes.

The committee's Southerners, Chairman Clifford Davis (D-Tenn) and Robert Jones (D-Ala), agreed the election should be investigated. But they said Alford should be seated pending the outcome of the inquiry. This, they said, would be in line with past procedure.

The Southerners were outvoted by Representatives Thomas O'Neill (D-Mass), Kenneth Keating (R-NY) and David Dennison (R-Ohio).

The formal challenge to Alford's election came not from Hays but from John F. Wells, Little Rock publisher of a weekly newspaper.

Wells told the committee there were numerous irregularities in the vote. He said stickers used by the Alford write-in voters were illegal, and that there were more votes than listed voters in some instances, and that Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas and others conspired to unseat Hays.

Hays said that since he is not contesting the election, "it is the simple question of whether it was an honest election."

Hays will be honored tonight at a dinner to be attended by high government officials, church leaders and others.

Skidding Auto Rams Into Bus

Parked Truck Drifts Into Union St. Wall

No one was hurt when a skidding auto struck a Grandview Line bus today at 7:44 a. m. on a Jennings Ave. curve, police reported.

A 1956 sedan driven by Mrs. Mildred J. Sauerbrei, 209 Maplewood Ave., struck a bus of the Inter - City Transit Co. operated by Charles Claypool, 29, of 1127 Harker Ave., officers said.

Police said the pavement was "very icy" at the spot where the crash occurred. The southbound auto skidded on the curve and hit the north - bound bus, officers said. There was extensive damage to the left front of the car. The left front of the bus also was damaged, police said.

A pickup truck drifted away from a parking place on Union St. at 3 p. m. Wednesday and struck a stone wall at the property of Dean McShane, 308 Union St., officers said. Owned by Smith Auto Parts of E. 4th St. and Broadway, the truck apparently slipped its emergency brake and coasted down the steep grade, police said. The front bumper was damaged.

Lewis Barron, 49, of Box 411, Midland, was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his 1956 sedan struck the rear of a 1955 sedan driven by Viola Agnes Seacrist, 825 Chester Ave., about 6:05 p.m.

FACES $100 MILLION DEFICIT. Sitting next to Gov. Williams' empty chair while he vacations in Florida, State Controller James W. Miller of Michigan announced at a press conference Wednesday that the state "simply cannot pay" all of its bills and faces a deficit of at least $100 million in June, 1959. Miller said at Lansing, Mich., there isn't enough money in sight and won't be enough until the legislature gets more cash into the treasury by some process. (UPI Telephoto)

$343,750 Seen Share On Road For Wellsville

City Delegation Told By Engineer Project To Cost $4½ Million

Wellsville's share of the cost of relocating Route 7 through the city probably will exceed $343,750, officials learned at a meeting Wednesday afternoon with W. E. Quicksall, Highway Department Division 11 engineer, at New Philadelphia.

Fifteen from Wellsville attended the session when Quicksall outlined preliminary plans for the estimated $4½-million project.

The city's share will be based on 5 per cent of the project. However, the officials were told that the figures presented them are just estimates and that when a more exhaustive study is made of the relocation it will bring to light more items which are expected to increase the final cost.

The relocation will follow Buckeye Ave. and will join the recently completed Yellow Creek-Wellsville super - road and the East Liverpool - Wellsville super-road.

The relocation is necessary as the existing route through town is congested, the pavement too narrow and it will provide more adequate traffic flow, Quicksall told the group.

Plans call for the relocation, grading, draining, and paving of a four - lane limited access road with one full and two partial interchanges. One of the interchanges will be near Route 39 and another at Route 45. The other is expected near 25th St. where the Yellow Creek project starts.

A breakdown of the estimates follows:

$1,300,000, roadway; $700,000, pavement; $1,000,000, structures over 20-feet; $1,000,000, right-of-way; $225,000, detours and incidentals, and $150,000, construction and engineering.

The city's share of these items is $218,750 but $125,000 for the preliminary engineering raises the cost to the estimated $343,750.

The estimates are based on figures from the preliminary survey of the route made by Good, Kind & O'Day, consulting engineers.

Quicksall said the estimates are expected to be low, but they are the best available at the time.

The project will be included in the next biennium appropriation for 1959-1961. Division 11 has $60

Stanton Board Will Resubmit School Bonds

The Stanton Board of Education has passed a resolution to resubmit a $498,000 bond issue to voters next spring for a new consolidated school at Empire and installation of inside toilets at the Hammondsville School.

The proposal was defeated twice in 1958 but the Board unanimously agreed at a special session to submit the proposal again early in 1959 due to "the critical situation facing the school district and the urgency of the new building."

Date for the special election has been set tentatively for June 2. The levy for the bond issue, as submitted to the board by Stephen J. Hamrock, Jefferson County auditor, will be 2.4 mills.

This is a reduction from the 5.1-mill rate proposed in the previous issue.

The decrease is due to the recent boost of the valuation of the Stanton district with construction of the Ohio Edison Co. plant, a $75 million project, at Stratton.

The proposal calls for a 10-room consolidated school in Empire which will cost approximately $480,000. The remaining $18,000 will be used for installing inside toilets in the Hammondsville building—the only school in Stanton without such facilities.

In a special election in July, a $480,000 issue was defeated, 515-409. It was increased to $498,000 to provide funds for the inside toilets but the proposal was again defeated in the Nov. 4 general election by a vote of 713-629.

Record Income Seen, Buying Power Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the dollar income of Americans will set a record in 1958, real income in terms of buying power has declined from 1957 because of inflation.

The Commerce Department said personal income for the full year will exceed 353 billion dollars, up more than five billions from 1957.

Chester Sets Sewer Rate To Finance Plant

Charge To Be 110% Of Water Bill For $350,000 Project

Legislation establishing a sewer rate schedule in Chester to implement construction of a proposed $350,000 sewage disposal plant, was ordered by Chester Council at a meeting Wednesday night.

In a 4-1 vote, Council authorized preparation of an ordinance for a rate of 110 per cent of the water bills paid by city residents.

The schedule was proposed by the Chester Sanitary Board, which includes John Pinney, J. A. Bower and Dale K. Allison, who discussed the rates with Council last night.

Following Council's move to initiate the legislation, Allison submitted his resignation from the board. He declined to give a reason.

Board members advised Council the rate schedule and plans for collection were required by the city to enable the board to make application for federal aid for the project in January.

Board members said after an extensive study, they agree it would be necessary to charge a fee equivalent to 110 per cent of the water bills to raise an annual $32,000 payment for the project. There are 1,146 water customers in Chester.

The estimates were based on a predicted cost of $350,000 for the plant and system made five years ago by A. R. Todd, Wheeling engineer.

Board members indicated they had attempted to set a fair sewage rate and pointed out it could be reduced later if warranted.

Councilman James Waggle made the motion that City Solicitor William Conklin be instructed to prepare the ordinance for sewer rates recommended by the board. Councilman John Olash seconded the motion. They and Councilmen John Abrams and Walter McSwegin supported the motion. Councilman Charles Kology, in the discussion with the board, said he believes the rate is "too high." He said the community of Oak Hill, W. Va., with a population larger than Chester, has a 60 per cent sewer rate.

Following the final vote on the

Soviet Aide Would Like Spring Visit

State Department Declines Comment On Red Approach

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility of high level Soviet-American policy talks here opened up today with a report that Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan would like to visit Washington early next year.

Mikoyan is in the inner circle of Kremlin leadership close to Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The State Department has declined comment but the Soviet government was understood to have approached the U.S. embassy in Moscow about arranging the trip.

Mikoyan's immediate purpose would be to visit Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov. It would be his second visit to this country. His first was in 1936 as head of an industrial survey group.

The United States, some informants said, has not yet made a decision. But indications were that it would agree to the suggestion.

President Eisenhower proposed last February that leading Soviet personalities should come to this country and rid themselves by first hand observation of false conceptions which Eisenhower said they have about the United States.

Presumably if he came here, the 63-year-old Mikoyan would be prepared to discuss a wide range of outstanding disagreements and tensions.

But the belief here is that his main interest would be to promote greater trade.

In a letter to Eisenhower June 2, Khrushchev said such trade could be built up to a volume of several billions of dollars within a few years. But he said to achieve that volume it would be necessary for the United States to grant long term credits to the Soviet Union.

Secretary of State Dulles later remarked that Khrushchev has "declared economic warfare on us . . . And now it looks as though the Soviet Union wanted to get credit from us so that it could more successfully pursue its economic warfare against us."

There was speculation the question of top-rung visits between Russian and American leaders may have arisen during an eight-hour talk between Khrushchev and Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn). The two met in Moscow on Dec. 1, and Mikoyan sat in on the talks for about an hour.

Refunds Due For Gas Users

Utility To Pay 2,000 In Upper Hancock

Some 2,200 customers of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. in the Chester-Newell area are among 48,000 Northern Panhandle gas users due a refund plus 6 per cent interest from the utility, the state Public Service Commission has announced at Charleston.

The PSC Wednesday announced an order which cut West Virginia rates of the gas company by $124,000 a year, as compared to rates the firm has had in effect the past 13 months.

A portion of the gas bills paid during the period since Nov. 11, 1957, will be involved in the refunding procedure.

For the consumption bracket of the average residential customer, the refund will amount to 2 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas. Rates authorized from now on in that bracket are only one per cent per 1,000 below those that have been in effect.

Wheeling is the largest city to be affected by the decision.

AT&T Stock Split Rockets Wall Street Buying Orders

NEW YORK (AP)—A newsboy from Port Chester, N.Y., an Oklahoma Indian princess and a University of California professor have one thing in common today — a sizable paper profit on their stock in American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Directors of the world's biggest public utility recommended a 3-for-1 stock split and a 10 per cent hike in the dividend Wednesday. It's the first stock split in company history and the first dividend change in 37 years.

Company directors said the split would strengthen the position of the company in obtaining large amounts of equity capital needed for expansion. They expect the split will widen the market for the stock.

The proposal sent AT&T stock skyrocketing on the New York Stock Exchange. An avalanche of buying orders forced suspension of trading. When trading resumed 1½ hours later, the stock was up $23 at $225, breaking a 27-year high. It closed at $223, up $21 on the day, on a volume of 110,200 shares.

AT&T closed at $223.75, up $23.75 on the Pacific Coast Exchange.

What does this mean to the newsboy, the Indian princess or the college professor? They probably won't take down their paper profits by selling. They've held their AT&T stock five years or more.

They are part of AT&T's 1,625,800 shareowners. This is the biggest corporate family in the world, greater than the combined total of owners in the three next biggest concerns: General Motors Corp., Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) and General Electric Co.

These three are among the 812,900 little investors who have held 15 shares or less of AT&T stock for five years or more.

If one of the trio, for instance, had purchased 10 shares at the 1954 low of $156 a share, it would have cost him $1,560, plus broker fees. In five years, he would have collected $450 in dividends.

On 10 shares he could have collected $2,230, less broker fees, at Wednesday night's New York closing price. That's a capital gain in five years of $670.

He probably wouldn't sell though. Because if he and the other stockholders approve the proposed stock-split at the next annual meeting on April 15, his 10 shares will become 30. And his dividends would increase from $90 a year on 10 shares to $99 a year on 30 shares.

Moonshine Turns Up In 3 Ohio Communities

CLEVELAND (AP)—Moonshine whisky and the machinery which produces it turned up in three northeastern Ohio communities Wednesday.

Thomas Greer of Cleveland was released on $1,000 bond by U. S. Commissioner H. A. Horn. Greer was arrested when liquor agents raided a 50-gallon still operating in his second-story apartment.

In Trumbull County, police arrested two men when 18 half-gallon jars of illegal whisky were found in the trunk of a car. The men were held at Warren. Deputies said charges of illegal possession of whisky will be filed.

And in Kent, police and liquor agents are looking for the owner of a shack which burned Wednesday. Firemen discovered a 30-gallon still in the structure.

Miss Monroe was five or six weeks pregnant when she lost her first baby Aug. 1, 1957.

Mayor Enters Paper Strike In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner and three national and city mediation officials meet today to discuss the nine-day-old strike against nine city newspapers.

Peace talks broke down completely Wednesday. Group representing publishers and the striking Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union failed to agree on a resumption of negotiations as they met with federal mediators.

Presses at the nine papers have been still since shortly after the strike of deliverymen began Dec. 9 over wages and other contract issues.

The newspaper industry is losing an estimated 1½ million dollars a day in advertising and circulation revenues and in suspended wages of nearly 20,000 nonstriking but idle employes.

In a separate action, the New York Board of Trade called on President Eisenhower, Gov. Averell Harriman, Gov.-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller and Wagner to intervene.

At Wednesday's brief joint meeting, the publishers held firm on their offer of a two-year, $7-a-week wage package.

The deliverers' membership turned down this offer when the strike began. Union negotiators agreed Tuesday to resubmit the offer, but were overruled in a membership meeting.

Present deliverers wage is $103.82 a week.

The New York Yankees will play five night baseball games in Detroit next season.

The Science Of Governing

The science of governing, also described as an art, is called politics, though many Americans profess to despise all politics under the illusion it has only the bad name given to it by a certain kind of politician.

It is the good name of politics that is going to be important next year in one of the trickiest transactions ever attempted — the sale of some 80 billion dollars' worth of government securities.

Unless the right kind of political leadership can create enough confidence in the security of dollars to make investors help the U.S. Treasury carry out this tremendous job of refinancing the public debt, the creeping inflation everybody has been talking about will turn into galloping inflation—and there will be nothing more to talk about.

The refinancing needed in 1959 will be about the same as the total budget for the fiscal year running from next June 30 to July 1, 1960. It will represent about one fourth of the national debt.

What does politics have to do with it?

Simply this: Confidence.

Investors either will have confidence in the ability of political leadership to maintain the value of the currency by balancing government outgo with government income, or they will refuse to invest in government securities.

When the federal government's credit is impaired, it must raise money by selling securities to the Federal Reserve system, which money experts know would be a powerful engine of inflation.

The dispute over the federal budget is frequently carried on in the abstract, as if it were six of one and a half dozen of the other whether outgo and income were balanced or not. But there is nothing abstract about the public debt that taxpayers are carrying or the large-scale refinancing that comes due in 1959.

It is the most down-to-earth transaction any government ever attempted, and everything depends on the impression political leadership makes during the next year.

If investors ever get the idea that the men who hold political power have quit trying to balance the budget, or are not astute enough to handle it as a prime responsibility of the science of governing, the runaway inflation nobody wants will be what everybody must live with for better or for worse.

Instead of scoffing at bad politicians, Americans should pray for enough good ones to sell more than 80 billion dollars' worth of confidence in the stability of U.S. dollars during 1959.

If Only For The Sake Of Vicunas

The first time around, the story of the Italian tailor who wanted to give President Eisenhower a vicuna overcoat, along with some other haberdashery, was funny.

It would have been funny if a visiting ambassador of good will had tried to give Harry Truman a "deep freeze" at the low point of his administration's falling prestige.

But as time wears on, it isn't funny any more that the fair name of the vicuna must remain in bad odor because a hungry little band of political hatchetmen fell upon Sherman Adams and ripped his vicuna overcoat to shreds.

The vicuna does not vote in U.S. elections, or in any elections. He has no voice in public affairs. But he has certain inalienable and inviolable rights that are being kicked around by rabbity pussy-footers who are so hypersensitive to criticism they are being ridiculous.

If an Italian tailor wants to give the president of the United States a vicuna overcoat, let him carry out his mission. It isn't his fault that the time had come for a politician from New Hampshire to be discredited and banned from the White House — and that a vicuna overcoat figured in the job.

The whole incident has been silly enough as an event inside the family without dragging in the neighbors to show them the seamy side of U.S. politics, too. If only for the sake of vicunas — wherever they are — let the Italian tailor give Eisenhower the overcoat and go home to Italy while he still has some illusions left about the land of liberty.

When Experts Weigh The Evidence

From now until year-end and for some few weeks after, the experts will be deep in calculations of the past, present and future—business-wise.

They are weighing the evidence as it comes to hand by reports, surmises, forebodings and thumb-sucking. They expect to conclude that on the whole there are more rays of sunshine in the black night of despair than they were able to find a year ago when the rising tide of unemployment was running a dead heat with the ebbing tide of production. Since then, things have been looking better .

At the very worst, they have been looking less bad. There has been a slowdown in the slowdown, or to turn it the other way around the pickup in the slowdown hasn't been as rapid as it was when politicians were yelling a year ago to run for the hills because it looked like a long dry spell ahead and the dam was going to burst.

There has been a recession in the recession, which is the same thing as an ascent in the descent. Things are not, of course, as good as they are going to be when they get good, but they are not as bad as they were when they were bad. Unemployment is not falling off as rapidly as employment is picking up, but that — as many other things—must be blamed on seasonal factors, which is to blame for all things not blameable on unseasonable factors, such as no snow before Christmas, which this year has overdone it so that too much snow is as unseasonable as no snow at all.

Or to put it in two-syllable words, there has been a decrease in the increase of the downturn. The pickup is, to put it mildly, more than a tossup at long last, which experts construe to be a point somewhere between the beginning of the first and the end of the fourth quarter of 1959.

Deadly December

The holiday season too often is marred by highway tragedy, stemming from bad weather conditions, long hours of darkness and the carelessness which seems to go with the excitement and bustle of the month.

In 1957 almost a third of the total road fatalities in Columbiana County occurred during December — 9 out of the 28 dead. A city pedestrian was fatally injured on Christmas day.

So far this month, only one person has been killed. But police and highway officials well know all the deadly factors still are pressing together to maintain one of December's worst traditions.

It will take the cooperation of every motorist and pedestrian to make sure we all have a merry Christmas and happy New Year.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Much advice is being given on how to choose a puppy as a Christmas gift, with emphasis on careful observation of eyes, legs, ears and general attitude. Okay, but pooches need some advice on choosing an owner. So here goes for puppies everywhere:

1. Look closely at buyer's eyes, if he is a man. If they are clear and bright it indicates he likes dogs and means to take good care of you but will often battle with wife over her turn to take you out when you "gotta go."

If eyes are dull and misty it indicates he has lost many such arguments. You'll be slow getting your airings even if issue doesn't go to federal mediation.

2. Observe his demeanor. Good or bad, he will try to teach you to sit up and beg, fetch slippers and carry a newspaper. This can be pretty annoying but there is no escape.

3. Note whether he acts friendly. Even it he does so, remember you haven't seen him try to housebreak a puppy yet.

4. Note his mouth. Does the jaw protrude? This indicates plenty of arguments with his wife over her determination to let you sleep at the foot of the bed. If his wife is with him, note her mouth and jaw. It may indicate she will win all such disputes.

5. If the buyer is a woman study her carefully. If she gushes over you and makes with dog-talk, excuse it. But it may be taken as a sign she will overfeed you, tie ribbons around your neck and pick a silly name.

If she doesn't gush it indicates she prefers a cat or is choosing you to send to Aunt Minnie's little boy, Oswald, for Christmas. (Play sick or dead immediately.

This kid is getting a load of guns, guided missiles, rockets, etc., for Christmas and may try to put you in the nose cone.)

Q. DID BROADWAY show tickets ever sell as low as $2? B.N.

A. Back around 1917 most shows were a $2 top. Some hit-musicals went to $3, but in places like the Winter Garden, dropped back to $2.50. Arthur Hopkins had a $2 top on weekends but $1 to $1.50 for other nights. It was the era of Gray's Drugstore in Times Square where thousands swarmed nightly for cut-rate tickets.

Atlantic & Pacific supermarket stock is now open to public and Ima Dodo complains because she can't get it cheaper at a rival market. First A & P store was a hole in the wall in downtown New York and opened in 1859. It handled mainly tea, coffee and spices.

Did you know blacksmith is not a vanished American and that those in the business of shoeing horses make more than back in hoss-and-buggy days? Blacksmiths can make $20,000 a year today, and boys go to college to learn trade. Michigan State and Cornell are among schools having blacksmith courses, says the Wall Street Journal.

Q. Is it a violation of Christmas to spell it "Xmas"? I've heard so for years. Mrs. V.B.N.

A Dreaded Companion

Tighter Deportation Law Needed

By Victor Riesel

Hand me my party card. At least one Mafia chief says the newspapers in the United States are Communist troublemakers digging up all that nonsense about an invisible government and things underworld. This sage sociological analysis comes from none other than Joe Profaci, dean of the Mafia grand council and veteran of its clandestine clambakes since the early '20s.

Victor Riesel

Profaci made this observation while discussing newspaper charges that the famed Apalachin cook out was a national crime convention. All this is of interest at this minute because the Dept. of Justice has just succeeded in denaturalizing the dean.

It took almost two years to get this far. It will take years more to win a deportation order—and there you have the lead to a story which should make the congressmen's faces as red as Profaci's opinion of our journals.

For, all through the last session of Congress there was a simple bill in the hopper which could have been used to cut deeply into the labor rackets—if it had become law.

THE BILL, known as S-345, would have wiped out the power of the mob to use ancient legalism simply as a stalling tactic in deportation cases. Few paid any attention to the bill despite the Justice Department's efforts to rush it through.

So, it takes up to five or more years to move against the men who really are the powers in the labor rackets.

Joe Profaci is typical. Almost two years ago, the Immigration and Naturalization Service started proceedings against him. Profaci viewed the case with justified disdain. He knew it would take years. It has.

Yet Joe Profaci is the symbol of what has so aroused the nation since the exposures of the corrosion and corruption inside some captive unions.

Not too long ago, for example, the record shows that when Profaci was questioned he had on him "a number of cards of various union officials throughout the eastern part of the U.S."

One of Robert Kennedy's investigators learned that these were the personal cards of officials in seven locals in three international unions stretching from New York to Chicago.

WHEN KENNEDY had Profaci on the McClellan committee witness stand and asked the significance of these contacts, Profaci said it would incriminate him if he answered.

You would lose no currency by wagering that Mr. P. has contacts beyond these mentioned—but three international unions make a significant combine just by themselves.

If Profaci had been deported earlier, his influence in these outfits would have been severed. At least a minor skirmish in this vast battle would have been won.

There is the case of Profaci's colleague and fellow crime convention delegate, Vito Genovese, a gourmet who can cater to his own tastes, for he is rated by the boys to have some 30 million dollars. Maybe it's less. But it's a lot, no matter how you count what he has made out of his invisible occupation.

Years ago Immigration agents started to move against Genovese. Finally on Sept. 1, 1955, the Justice Department was able to denaturalize him.

Now, more than three years later, after many legal moves, Genovese still is free—if that's what you can call it.

HE IS IN NEW YORK Federal Court being tried on a serious narcotics conspiracy charge. It will be several more years before he can be deported, whether or not he is convicted on the current rap.

Genovese, like Profaci, just rolls on and on with his appeals. Genovese, like Profaci, has far-flung contacts in some international unions.

Literally, there are hundreds of others with similar contacts. They are deportable. If they were dispatched abroad, their influence in American labor circles would be cut. Sure there would be newcomers, but not with the power of the old black guard.

Yet, red tape has so snagged the Justice Department's powers that only 12 men of Profaci's stature (including Murder Inc.'s Joe Adonis) have been deported since July 7, 1954. If S-345 had become law, we'd have had more law and order.

If Cabinet members and leaders of the two big parties can't get together on one big anti-racket law, let's at least have a little one just to tide us over the criminal tidal wave.

Ike's In The Middle

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Republicans are rubbing their aching heads. President Eisenhower probably is too. He's in the middle. What he seems to want is peace and harmony among Senate Republicans. He's getting the opposite.

A band of 10 rebellious Republican senators have teamed up to muscle aside the conservative Republicans who have been running their show. A fight looks certain Jan. 7, when Congress returns. The rebels may be outnumbered. In all, there will be 34 GOP senators in the next Congress.

Sen. George Aiken of Vermont, 66 and no political chicken since he's been in the Senate 18 years, is leader of the rebels. They don't call themselves liberals. They indicate they think they represent the wave of the future.

They point to the November elections — which took a heavy toll of Republican conservatives—as proof the voters are fed up with conservative Republicanism.

For years the Senate Republican leadership has been in the hands of conservatives like senators Robert Taft of Ohio, William Knowland of California and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

When Taft died five years ago, Knowland succeeded him as Republican floor leader. Knowland was defeated this year when he quit the Senate to run for the governorship of Califrnia.

But the 60-year-old Bridges, even more of a veteran than Aiken with 22 years in the Senate, is still very much a powerhouse. He's chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Bridges and Knowland have differed a number of times with Eisenhower on foreign policy. But the rebels are not only trying to unseat Bridges as policy chairman and put one of their own number in his place. They're also shooting at Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois.

Dirksen, a Taft Republican and with a generally conservative record, wants to succeed Knowland as Republican floor leader, and he says he'll fight to get the job.

There's a little irony in this. Members of the Aiken group claim to be Eisenhower supporters. But Dirksen describes himself as a down-the-line Eisenhower supporter.

In recent years Dirksen has supported much of the President's foreign policy. Protesting against what the rebels want to do to him, he says "I have carried the flag" for Eisenhower "when the legislative going was rough."

Bridges, apparently very unhappy over this whole business, went to see Eisenhower Wednesday. He indicated the President had initiated the meeting. It's hard to see why, judging from what Bridges said.

He said Eisenhower "just listened" and doesn't want to take sides. There is something else hard to see too: If Eisenhower isn't taking sides, why didn't he see any of the Aiken group?

Aiken has said: "We haven't heard a peep from the White House but we would welcome some encouragement from there."

Dirksen was at the White House Wednesday, but on other business. Later he said he and Eisenhower didn't discuss the leadership fight.

Surprise For 1960?

By David Lawrence

GOP, Democrats May Split Into 4 Parties

Four political parties, instead of just two, may be in the field in the 1960 presidential campaign. It seems likely that there will be a bolt not only from the Democratic party but also from the Republican party.

David Lawrence

The so-called "liberals" are threatening to drive the conservatives out of the Democratic party. Likewise, this week the first signs are manifest that those Republicans in Congress who like to call themselves "liberal," in imitation of their Democratic party brethren, are about to split the Republican party.

If the only function the Republican party is to serve hereafter is to be an imitation of the northern "liberal" faction of the Democratic party, then millions of conservative Republicans will be found ready to join a new party.

The controversy which has just started over the selection of a leader of the Republicans in the Senate can have far-reaching consequences.

If it means that the Republican party is no longer to be a conservative institution but merely a copy of the Democratic party in the North, then there will be no channel for the expression of conservative doctrines under the regular Republican auspices.

THE SITUATION in the Democratic party is much further developed toward a dissolution. Almost every political visitor who comes to Washington from the Southland concedes that there is trouble brewing.

The story seems to be that the regularly nominated and elected Democrats in Congress will take no active part in the bolt but will attend the next national convention as Democratic party delegates.

Among the rank and file, on the other hand, there is already much discussion about "write-in" votes and the placing of the names of independent electors on the presidential ballot.

The Southern conservatives would like nothing better than to have a chance to join with Northern conservatives in forming a new political party in America.

Such a union, however, seems for the present out of the question so long as the Republicans insist on a federalized system of government which deprives the states of their right to control their own public schools and education processes.

If the Republican party concept of the "civil rights" issue is to remain the same as that of the Northern Democrats, then there is little chance for a national coalition of conservatives to be formed.

The outlook, therefore, would seem to be for a break-up of the two major political parties into four blocs for an indefinite period. Temporary alliances may ensue on specific issues in Congress, but, in a presidential race, it is conceivable that many states would vote for independent electors.

THERE IS ALWAYS the chance, under such circumstances, that a presidential election might be thrown into the House of Representatives for decision, as the Constitution provides when no candidate gets a majority of the electoral votes.

The unanswered question is not merely the extent of the defection in the ranks of the Republican party in the Northern states but the size of the dissident vote inside the Democratic party in all parts of the country.

If "non-integration" of the public schools were in some way, for instance, implied as an issue by a candidate espousing the cause of states' rights vs. federal encroachment, there probably would be a surprising number of persons in the North and West voting for such a ticket who previously had labeled themselves as Democrats.

Often, when the choice is between the "lesser of two evils," the voter doesn't have a chance to indicate his adherence to the particular political philosophy that he likes.

That's why a four-way split may prove the surprise of the century to those politicians who have convinced themselves lately that they can force both the Republican and Democratic parties into the realm of radicalism or "modernism" without the risk of bringing down the roof in both instances.

WHAT HAS LED to the confused picture is the erroneous interpretation given generally to the sweeping victory won in the name of the Democratic party in the recent congressional elections.

This has been mistakenly construed as a triumph for "liberalism."

Short-sighted Republicans have been persuaded rather easily that radicalism and "modernism" won, when, as a matter of fact, many of the Democratic candidates who were victorious last month are busy today explaining how really non-radical they are and how they do not favor unlimited spending.

Inside the Democratic party the drive is on just the same to curb the power of the Southern leadership of various committees in Congress — also in the name of "liberalism."

The net result is to increase the opportunity for a deeper cleavage inside the Democratic party.

Maybe all parties a few years hence will be looking for an American De Gaulle to rescue them from the debacle of splintered parties.

Help The Old Kid

By Truman Twill

"Remember to wink at a homely girl for my sake," was to become one of the late H. L. Mencken's quotable remarks.

What H. L. was driving at was the neglect of homely girls, who stand in as much need of attention as the beautiful ones.

It was a warm-hearted thing for the hard-boiled sage of Baltimore to think of, even though it missed the mark a little, as Harry Golden pointed out in his essay on it in "Only in America."

Golden says anyone who knows the score can testify to as the truth that homely girls do a little better than can be expected, because there are, in effect, no girls so homely they cannot conceal their handicap with charm—and homely girls never miss a trick.

But it is not the truth of the Menckenese point of view on giving a boost to the morale of homely girls that is involved here so much as the Menckenese point of view on remembering the neglected.

"Remember each Christmas to give the man of the house a hook-and-ladder truck for his lost youth's sake." Here is the same theme but a different sermon.

The most neglected character on the premises, come Christmas, is the adult male, who is supposed to exult about his pretty socks, neckties, sweaters, shirts, pajamas, gloves etc. that he would have bought for himself if he had thought he needed them.

He puts up a brave front, gravy stains and all, but underneath his ticker is aching for the gee-gaws, gimcracks and hoot-nannies he wants and never gets at Christmas.

Everybody else gets that stuff—the impractical, foolish, funny, silly, inconsequential clutter that makes the difference between Merry Christmas and a clearance sale of staple items. Especially the kids. And more especially the boy kids, which is what the grown male is at heart.

He gets fed to his teeth with useful stuff for Christmas. What he wants is something he can enjoy — a popgun, a rattle decorated with silhouettes of bosomy babes, or a construction set so he can build a model of a guillotine.

Or a steam engine, a motorcycle, a scooter, a hook-and-ladder truck, or a red wagon. Or a walkie-talkie, a wood-burning set, a dingus that makes enough noise to wake the dead, or a do-it-yourself kit to become a parlor magician and amaze his friends.

Or a silly game he can play with no skill and no brains, a chemistry set to blow up the house, a hobby horse, a cowboy suit, a new football, or a first-baseman's mitt.

Otherwise, the useful stuff he will get will bring a smile to his face and an ache to his heart. If by chance someone else does get the things he wants, he will move in under them and preempt their treasures, causing hurt feelings.

Give the man around the house something foolish to hold his attention and gladden his spirits this Christmas. He will use all the useful stuff he will get, but give the old kid something to enjoy. He deserves it.

Investigating Bureau May Be Curtailed

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence and Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti said today they expect to confer with Chief Americo J. Radeschi on changes in police department operations that will be necessary when 9 patrolmen are lopped off the payroll Dec. 31 for lack of funds.

The mayor said the problem already has been given study, but no decisions will be made pending the conference with the chief. Of 23 employes scheduled to be laid off at the end of the year, the police department will lose the most. The force will be cut from 31 to 22. Three firemen, a dog warden and 10 part-time school crossing guards also will be laid off.

The administration conceded the personnel cutbacks may force some changes in the operation of the four-man Special Service Bureau, an investigative staff set up with the increase in the size of the force. Commanded by Lt. Clyde W. Boso, the bureau also includes Patrolmen Charles E. (Bill) Tice, Thomas Walker and Lloyd Garvey.

Although only Garvey faces layoff, the city may not be able to retain all three of the others in the bureau because of the need for uniformed patrolmen, the two officials said. However, the investigative branch will continue—even if it is staffed by only one man, they said.

Raymond Stevens of the club advised Council last night the city would have to accept primary sponsorship of the conservation project, turning the maintenance and easement work over to the service club or any other organizations which would help.

Encil Brohard of the Soil Conservation Service has advised the service club the project could be expedited if the application from the city stated how funds for the maintenance would be obtained. It is the responsibility of the local groups to care for the dams once they are constructed.

'Samaritan' Story Had Another Side, Testimony Shows

Accused of being a "Good Samaritan" who later tried to collect $79 for a "tiny little scratch" on his auto, Lee Cain of McKee St. explained to Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw Wednesday that there was two sides to the story of his aid to a stalled woman motorist away back in November 1957 that culminated in a court appearance yesterday.

The other side of the story was told first — by Mrs. Dorothy Gamble of Rogers R. D. 1, who faced a charge of driving a car with defective brakes. The charge was filed by Cain. Mrs. Gamble told the court Cain filed the charge because his car was scratched—"just a tiny little scratch"—when Cain pushed her car to help get it started. Later, she said, he presented a bill for $79, which she thought was unreasonable.

Cain's version, related to the judge later, differed with Mrs. Gamble's on several major points.

Cain said he and another man pushed Mrs. Gamble's auto by hand to drift it backward downgrade after it stalled near a drug store. He said Mrs. Gamble's car went 40 to 45 feet, then sideswiped his auto, which was parked some distance from the scene. The damage was more than "a tiny little scratch," he said.

Cain declared further that Mrs. Gamble gave him a fictitious name after agreeing to pay for the damage. He said he finally was able to locate her through tracing the license number of the Rogers car with the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles. That's when the judge gave Mrs. Gamble a suspended $10 fine, taking into consideration her plea her husband is unemployed.

West Virginia Opens Defense Of Tournament Title Friday

Kentucky U. Picked To Win At Lexington

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Two national champions — the regular season and NCAA kings — could tangle in the Kentucky Invitational Basketball Tournament which opens Friday night.

West Virginia, which finished last season at the top of the Associated Press poll and currently is ranked seventh, starts things off in defense of their own tourney crown in a duel with Oklahoma State.

Then Kentucky, defending NCAA champ and host of the tourney, meets Ohio State in the nightcap on the first of two evenings of play.

West Virginia won last year's tourney with a 75-64 victory over North Carolina when each participating team received more than $11,750, setting a national record.

Kentucky's current No. 2 national ranking and the Wildcats' affinity for winning on their home floor make them a favorite to win the tourney. If they do, it will be the fourth time in six years the Cats have turned the trick.

The host team is the only one of the four with an unblemished record — sporting six consecutive victories. West Virginia was upset last Saturday at the hands of Virgina and is 5-1.

Ohio State, picked as the tourney dark horse, is 1-2 this season and Oklahoma State is even with two wins and an equal number of losses.

Perkins Stops Baby Vasquez

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eddie Perkins was beaming and Baby Vasquez screaming today in the aftermath of Perkins' second straight victory before the Wednesday TV fight cameras.

Perkins, 21-year-old Chicago lightweight comer, stopped Vasquez on a technical knockout at 2:40 in the seventh round of their lightweight scrap at Capital Arena Wednesday night.

Ring physician John Kneipp called a halt after examining a blood-gushing cut next to Vasquez' left eye.

"A short right did it," Perkins said.

"It was a butt," Baby snapped through a dressing room interpreter.

Pancho Rosales, the invader's manager, carried on from there.

"In Mexico," Rosales growled, "they take the fight away from him for that."

Perkins, who upset Frankie Ryff in his TV debut last month, was comfortably ahead on two of the three official cards when Referee Ray Bowen escorted Vasquez to the ropes for the eye examination.

Through six rounds Perkins led 56-49 on Bowen's card and 59-53 on Judge Julian Whitestone's sheet. Judge Ben Alperstein rated the bout a 57-57 standoff at that point. The Associated Press gave Perkins a 58-55 edge.

Vasquez weighed 133¾ and Perkins 133½. The fight was close until Perkins began scoring with left jabs, an occasional hook and combinations.

Banks To Receive 'Sultan Of Swat' Award On Jan. 12

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ernie Banks, whose 47 home runs for the Chicago Cubs last season set an all-time record for major league shortstops, will receive the "Sultan of Swat" crown here Jan. 12.

Coach Eddie Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles announced Wednesday night Banks had been picked for the honor by the Maryland Professional Baseball Players Assn. Robinson is chairman of the award dinner at which the presentation will be made.

Banks recently was voted the National League's Most Valuable Player award for the 1958 season.

Previous winners of the diamond-studded gold crown were Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox last winter and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees after the 1956 season.

The 27-year-old Banks, first National League winner, also led the major leagues in runs batted in with 129 and total bases with 379 while hitting .313 last season.

Fact Unit Opposes Extending Limit On Horse Race Meetings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A study committee of the fact-finding Ohio Legislative Service Commission has recommended against extending the 44-day limit on horse race meetings.

The committee, in its report to the commission Wednesday, said lengthening of the yearly racing dates would improve the quality of racing.

But it said such a move would allow more racing in every area but the Cleveland area and might be opposed for that reason.

It explained that meets now held at county fairgrounds could be moved to better equipped private tracks and those in the Cleveland area could be consolidated for the best facilities.

The committee's other recommendations, all of which will be submitted to the next Legislature for consideration, included:

Increasing the four - member State Racing Commission to five and boosting each member's pay from $3,200 to $4,200 a year; shifting from a part-time racing commission secretary to a full-time official whose pay would be increased from $2,500 to $7,500 annually; clarifying laws to make it definite that tracks in the same county or within 30 miles of each other can hold meets on the same day but at differing times.

Another committee, studying the Ohio High Patrol pension system, reported that the pension fund had an unfunded accrued liability of nearly 7½ million dollars last year. Additional liabilities of $8,800,000 will be incurred to present members if the present schedule of benefits and financing is maintained, the committee added.

It suggested a quick amortization of the accrued liabilities, by direct appropriation if possible.

Dayton's basketball team, winners of 25 out of 29 games last season, has five lettermen back. They are Mike Allen, Terry Bockhorn, Frank Case, Hank Josefczyk and Joe Kennelly.

Barons Blast Alliance For 8th Straight

By The Associated Press

Ohio colleges triumphed in four of five basketball games with out-of-state teams Wednesday night.

Toledo's Rockets went on a scoring spree and defeated Western Michigan 106-84. Dayton's unbeaten Flyers chalked up their fifth straight win 93-77 over Texas Southern, unbeaten Steubenville swamped Alliance College of Cambridge Springs, Pa. 90-55, and Oscar Robertson and his Cincinnati Bearcats, rated No. 1 in the nation, plastered College of The Pacific 112-66.

Robertson chalked up 39 points despite a jammed finger as the Bearcats took their fourth straight victory without defeat. He also grabbed 23 rebounds. The Bearcats made good on 45 of 86 field goal attempts for a 52 per cent average.

Dayton's Frank Case also had a wild scoring night, dropping in 37 points, the most he ever got in one game in his college career. It was Texas Southern's first loss in five starts.

Sophomore Jerry Galicki paced Toledo with 28 points as the Rockets posted their second straight Mid-American Conference victory. They stand 4-5 for the season.

Steubenville posted its 31st straight victory over a two-season span and its 58th in a row at home in routing Alliance. Steubenville is now 8-0 for the season.

In the only other interstate action, the University of Louisville handed Wittenberg its first loss of the season against four victories. Louisville had a 10-point margin at halftime but Wittenberg chopped away and the score at the final buzzer was 56-49. The losing Tigers outshot the Kentuckians from the field, posting a 42.6 per cent average to Louisville's 34.5 per cent.

In three games on the home front, Denison came up with its third straight Ohio Conference victory 77-68 over Ohio Wesleyan. Bluffton got its first Mid - Ohio League win 72-67 over Findlay, and Marietta, 3-2 for the season, handed winless Kenyon its fourth straight loss 71-51 in an Ohio Conference fray.

Indians Sign 7; Lane In Cuba To Talk With Minoso

CLEVELAND (AP) — It's contract time for the Cleveland Indians and general manager Frank Lane is busy today trying to get his players' signatures on agreements for next season.

Seven players, including recently-acquired Billy Martin, have already signed.

Lane is in Cuba today trying to reach agreement with outfielder Minnie Minoso, who has a reputation as a hard bargainer. Minoso got a reported $40,000 and a new car for signing last year.

After Minoso there's infielder Vic Power in Puerto Rico. Power returned his contract unsigned. He will undoubtedly use his .312 batting average, highest among the Indians last season, as bargaining point.

Rocky Colavito batted .303 last season and was second in the American League with 41 home runs and 113 runs batted in. The rightfielder is asking $30,000 — twice as much as he received last year.

Already signed besides Martin, who is probably in the $20,000 a a year bracket, were pitchers Cal McLish, Morrie Martin, Jake Striker and infielders Billy Moran and Randy Jackson and outfielder Carroll Hardy.

U.S. And Italy Set For Davis Cup Match

PERTH, Australia (AP)—With big Barry MacKay, hero of the 1957 challenge round sitting on the bench, the United States opens its Davis Cup interzone final match against Italy Friday.

In the first of the opening day's two singles matches Alex Olmedo of Southern California meets Italy's champion, Nicola Pietrangeli.

Ham Richardson, the U. S. No. 1 ranked player from New Orleans and Arlington, Va. battles Italy's big Orlando Sirola in the second singles.

The doubles will be played Saturday and the final two singles on Sunday at the Royal Kings Park courts. The winner of the best 3-of-5 match qualifies for the challenge round against Australia Dec. 29-31.

Boston Uses Defense To Take Division Lead

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celts find themselves in first place today in the National Basketball Assn's Eastern Division by using a much-maligned facet of play in the pro ranks — defense.

Boston defeated the Detroit Pistons 102-95 in the second game of a doubleheader at Detroit after the champion St. Louis Hawks rolled over the New York Knicks, 136-122 in the first game.

The Knicks and Celts were tied for first place before Wednesday night's only NBA action.

Detroit was held to a skimpy 16 points in the fourth period, after trailing 80-79 after three quarters.

District's Unbeaten List Shrinks To Four Teams

Only four of the district's teams boast unbeaten records as the 1958 phase of the new basketball season draws to a close.

Midland and United top the list with identical 4-0 marks, Salem is 3-0 and Chester 2-0.

All but two teams have won at least one game. Lisbon has lost two and Newell four without a victory.

With the exception of three other squads—Fairfield-Waterford, Beaver Local and Wellsville—the rest of the teams are either on the losing side or the .500 mark.

Midland and United will be favored to sweep to their fifth straight victories Friday night, but Chester could run into trouble.

Midland travels to McKees Rocks and United to Agusta. Chester will meet Rochester at home, a team it defeated last year, 61-54.

The Salem Quakers have an off week before facing a real test on Dec. 26 when they tackle Cleveland East Tech, 1957 Ohio cage champions, at Salem.

In individual scoring, the district has three cagers averaging more than 20 points per game, while two others are not far off the pace.

Wellsville's clever forward Dan Baldwin is way out in front in total points with 127 in five games for an average of 25.4. His best two efforts to date were 31 point outbursts against Newell and East Liverpool. The senior standout hit 25 against Mingo Tuesday night, 24 against Midland and 16 in a victory over Lisbon.

Right behind Baldwin is Irondale's pint-sized jump shot artist, Don Fraley, with 88 points in four games for a 22 per game average. He is also a senior.

Jim Knight of East Palestine has 85 points in four games, an average of 21.2. Lee Chamberlain of Fairfield-Waterford has amassed 77 points in four games for a 19.2 average. Woody Deitch of Salem is averaging 16 points with 48 in three games.

The lone game tonight finds Beaver Local traveling to Newell. Eight other games are set for Friday. Saturday's only district game finds East Liverpool entertaining unbeaten Canton McKinley.

Brown Claims Team's Morale Isn't Problem

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Paul E. Brown may have problems, but team morale, he says, is not one of them.

Asked about the mental attitude of the Cleveland Browns, who are sharpening up their attack for Sunday's do-or-die game against the New York Giants, Brown said: "It's one thing I'm not worried about.

"Sure the fellows felt badly about losing," Brown continued, "but they know they played a darn fine football game."

Brown joined the Giants in hoping for a dry field in Yankee Stadium, and his reasoning sounded similar to that of Vince Lombardi, offensive coach for the Giants.

"We have more team speed in my opinion so a bad field hurts us more," said Brown. "I believe the Giants are a shade bigger."

Lombardi, on the other hand, told reporters in New York the Giant offense relies more on quick cuts rather than power. The heavy going was made to order for (Jimmy) Brown with the heavy middle of the Cleveland line."

Asked if any major changes are contemplated by the Browns, Coach Brown remarked:

"We're certainly not going to panic or go berserk because we lost a football game. We're making adjustments and some changes as we always do."

There was no sign of dejection in the Browns' dressing quarters at League Park, where practice sessions are held. The feeling of the team may have been best expressed by Ray Renfro, veteran pass receiver from Texas.

"I'd like to be playing them this afternoon," said Renfro. "I guess I've never felt so bad after a football game.

"It was tough after the championship loss in Detroit last season. This time, though, we're getting another chance." The Browns must win Sunday to take the Eastern Division title and get into the National Football League championship game against the Baltimore Colts Dec. 28.

Another player chimed in: "With that title game money riding on this one don't worry about the spirit of this squad.

"We'll be ready for the Giants."

Brown said last Sunday's game, won 13-10 by the Giants, "probably was one of our best efforts."

"Down deep," said Brown, "I still think we won. The boys feel the same way. We know we should have had the football after that fumble. That's part of the game we're in, though, and we accept it, get it out of our minds and go on."

The "fumble" Brown referred to was called an incomplete pass by head linesman Charley Berry. Brown says Frank Gifford caught Chick Conerly's pass, then dropped it. Walt Michaels of the Browns fell on the ball. On the next and last down Pat Summerall of the Giants booted the 49-yard field goal that won the game.

"Last Sunday we didn't get the break we waited for," said Brown. "but maybe it will come this Sunday. This game takes funny twists."

Robertson's 'Held' To 39 In Cincy Romp

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Assocated Press Sports Writer

Future opponents of the Cincinnati Bearcats, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, can relax a bit. All America Oscar Robertson doesn't concentrate on scoring all the time.

For the first time in four games this season, Robertson's scoring output went below 40 points Wednesday night. He netted only 39 as the undefeated Bearcats thrashed College of the Pacific 112-66.

Robby, hampered by a jammed finger, played about 36 minutes. His scoring average now is 41.8.

If he can maintain his average, he will break the all-time season record of 41.7, set by Frank Selvy of Furman in 1953-54.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina State and North Carolina, No. 10, were the only other members of the top 10 teams in this week's Associated Press poll to see action. N.C. State whipped La Salle 82-66 for its fifth straight victory. The Tar Heels made it three in a row with a 70-57 lacing of South Carolina in an Atlantic Coast Conference game.

Undeafeated Michigan State (No. 11) downed Notre Dame 74-56 for its third triumph, Auburn (No. 13) captured its 14th straight over a two-season span by routing Florida State 95-74, and SMU (No. 2) turned back Oklahoma 59-51.

North Carolina assumed a 34-25 halftime lead over South Carolina and pulled away after the Gamecocks had moved to within four points. York Larese paced the Tar Heels with 17 but yielded scoring honors to Ray Pericola, who topped South Carolina with 21.

Durelle Claims Moore Had 2 'Long Counts'

TORONTO (AP)—Yvon Durelle said Wednesday night that champion Archie Moore received the benefit of two long counts when Durelle floored him in the first round of their world lightheavyweight title bout last Wednesday in Montreal.

Durelle declared that while Referee Jack Sharkey was tolling two nine-counts over Moore the timekeeper marked off "13 or 14" seconds on each of the knockdowns.

"Sharkey took his own count and not that of the timekeeper," the stocky maritimer said in an interview prior to a television appearance.

Durelle, who was knocked out in the 11th round said he wasn't making the comments because of sour grapes.

Sports Writers Favor Retaining 2-Point Conversion Rule

Change Added Interest, 103 In Poll Think

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

College football's rules - makers made the first change in 46 years which affected scoring values when they adopted the somewhat controversial two-point conversion last January.

Today their action received a strong vote of approval from nearly 200 sports writers and broadcasters replying to the annual Associated Press post-season football questionnaire.

By a margin of about 5-2 the experts favored retaining the rule in its present form, although a few suggested some changes. And by an even greater margin they voted that the rule had achieved its purpose — at least in making the game more entertaining to spectators.

The rule adopted by the NCAA committee provided that two points are awarded for a successful running or passing play from the three-yard line after a touchdown and only one when the goal is kicked. It was greeted with some scepticism when it was passed and the professionals, most of the high schools and the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics refused to go along with it.

In the AP poll of sports writers and broadcasters, 133 said the rule should be retained and only 51 voted to abandon it immediately. Nine grudgingly suggested giving it another year's trial.

On the second part of the question — whether the two - pointer had been successful in providing more entertainment for fans and in reducing the number of tie games, 103 said it added to interest but there was an inconclusive 42-26 "yes" vote on eliminating ties. Only 17 said the two-point rule had failed to achieve either purpose.

The principal objections to the two-point conversion was that it put the point values of other plays out of balance.

"Why give two points for three yards when a player gets only six points for a 100-yard run?" asked one writer.

Another suggested: "The goal posts must be returned to the goal line so that three points are not so relatively more difficult to score than two." Several others concurred about returning the posts to the goal line.

"It failed to provide the advertised drama or decide any really big games," said still another. "If it would add anything to the game, the pros would have adopted it long ago."

Some other negative comments: "Made a subsidiary part of the game ridiculously over - important."

"Two points for a conversion only doubles the value of the most senseless play in football."

The experts favoring the rule were quite enthusiastic in most cases and several suggested it should be adopted by pros and high schools. A few thought it should be kept but made more difficult — by spotting the ball as much as ten yards from the goal instead of three.

Then there was this somewhat negative comment: "I don't know if it eliminated many ties, but it certainly gave the Monday quarterbacks something new to discuss."

Potter Wrestlers Meet Barnesville Today At 4

East Liverpool High School's wrestling team—undefeated in two straight matches—will meet Barnesville High School this afternoon at 4 at Memorial Auditorium. It will be the team's final match until after the Christmas holidays. Coach Lou Venditti's team has defeated Brilliant and Beaver Local.

Beavers Lose Fourth Match In Wrestling

Beaver Local's wrestling team lost its fourth straight match of the season Wednesday to Wheeling Linsly, 26-16, but Beaver freshman Carl Hoppel continued undefeated and his cousin smashed a record by pinning his opponent in 21 seconds.

In a battle of the undefeated, Carl Hoppel pinned Golberg of Wheeling in 3:29 in the 120-pound class. It was his fourth straight victory.

In the 112-pound division, his cousin Rick Hoppel made his first match a successful one in pinning Garven of Wheeling in 21 seconds which broke a record for quick time at the Wheeling school.

Those were the only two pins gained by Coach Jack O'Rourke's improving Beavers, but two others on the team gained decisions. Francis Possage decisioned Wheeling's Asmus, 4-1, and Mike Hall decisioned Moreman, 7-6.

Mike Hall's victory over Moreman smashed the undefeated record of the Wheeling grappler.

O'Rourke will take 11 members of his squad to Columbus Saturday to participate in a four-school match.

The results follow:

103—Possage (BL) decisioned Asmus (W), 4-1.

112—Rick Hoppel (BL) pinned Garven (W), 0:21.

120—Carl Hoppel (BL) pinned Goldberg (W), 3:29.

127—Butera (W) decisioned Rambo (BL), 4-0.

133—Wurner (W) pinned Greathouse (BL), 4:48.

138—M. Hall (BL) decisioned Moreman (W), 7-6.

145—Dezio (W) pinned J. Hall (BL), 1:37.

154—Auro (W) pinned Carter (BL), 1:01.

165—Dezio (W) decisioned Burkey (BL), 10-0.

Heavyweight — Jones (W) pinned Matheny (BL), 1:13.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

The 1958 deer season is over and it was a most successful season for hunters lucky enough to drag home the venison.

It was not without some complaints, however, about the actions of those a bit over eager to get in on the kill in complete disregard for the land owners' rights.

The crippled deer caused the most trouble. Once the animal was wounded, the hunter followed the bloody trail in hopes of finishing it off. The result in many cases was that the hunter paid no attention to "No Hunting" signs. Some land owners didn't like it a bit.

Most disappointing was the hunter who crippled a deer, saw another hunter finish it off and place his tag on it. It became the legal quarry of the hunter who reduced it to possession. All the pursuing hunter got out of it was "playing dog" for the other fellow in the right place at the right time.

Under these conditions wouldn't it be good sportsmanship to divide the meat so each man could go home happy and not emptyhanded?

TWO YOUNG men from Indiana solved their housing problem while hunting at Echo Dell in the State Parks area on Beaver Creek.

Danny Armbruster, the fish management agent on special assignment, ran across these out-of-state hunters and found their non-resident licenses in order after they had pitched their pup tent to camp out in the zero weather.

There's a two-way tie for top honors for the biggest buck taken as far as I have been able to learn.

Stan Siudak of Wellsville bagged a buck weighing 190 pounds hog-dressed, in Harrison County, while Willard E. Smith of Rogers took a buck weighing the same hog-dressed. Willard took his deer just southeast of Lisbon off Route 30. Both deer on the hoof would have weighed 250 pounds.

Willard's deer had 13 points, while Stan's deer had only 11, two being broken off. Evidently his deer had been engaged in a mating season battle, since the points were not broken off by rifle slugs.

W. C. Landsberger of near Lisbon took a small doe near West Point. Paul Thiesing of Pleasant Hill, Ohio, bagged a buck south of Lisbon.

Lou Reese of East Liverpool got his buck. Gene Secrest of Salem, hunted hard before he downed a spike buck. Johnny Beiling of the Columbiana-Elkton Road took home a nice 3-point trophy buck. Mike Mecurie of Columbiana was seen dragging out a doe, while Edward Duco of Leetonia did the same.

Don Harrold of Washingtonville ended his hunt with a 7-point buck and Charles Maxwell of Leetonia, also felled a doe.

From all reports reaching me, I can account for approximately 30 deer being taken, which exceeds the reported take of last year.

—:—

I WOULD like to express my appreciation on behalf of the Ohio Division of Wildlife to the sportsmen who assisted me in getting blood samples to be sent in to the Reynoldsburg Laboratory for testing as well as to the sportsmen who took the time and effort to send in the lower jaw for aging so we will have some kind of a record of the age of deer being taken.

Now a sour note to the "gun-jumpers" who combed the valley near Salineville and got away with it this year, some bagging their deer before the season officially opened: Don't complain if you are apprehended next year. Also, don't pat yourself on the back for the deer you took illegally.

McLean Quits Job As Coach Of Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Ray (Scooter) McLean resigned Wednesday after a single season as head coach of the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Last summer McLean forecast his team had "as good a chance as any" for the league title and declared, "We're going to shoot the moon."

The launching never took place and the countdown produced only a 1-10-1 record and last place in the Western Conference. It was the poorest showing in the 40-year history of the Packers.

McLean accepted an offer to become backfield coach of the Detroit Lions under his longtime friend, George Wilson.

"It was best for everybody and everything concerned," said McLean. He added, "Nothing would please me more than to see the Packers come up with a real winner next year."

Winfield Back Captains West Virginia 'A' Team

WHEELING (AP) — Bill Bryant, the only junior honored, is the captain of the 1958 Class A high school All-State football team. The 5-9, 160-pound Winfield halfback scored 198 points this past season, highest individual total in the state.

Winfield, runner-up to Meadow Bridge of Fayette County for the Class A championship, placed tackle Allen Spurlock, 195, on the honor team. The Generals from Putnam County were the only school to get more than one player on the first team.

Chairman Bill Bibb of the All-State football board announced the selections. Bibb is sports editor of the Wheeling Intelligencer.

End George McCune, a six-foot, 170-pounder, was Meadow Bridge's only player to make the first team.

The other backs include Gene Lamb, 170, Middlebourne; Bobby Moon, 170, W.Va. School for Deaf at Romney, and Carl Prince, 140 of Crum.

Bill Scott of Ridgeley, a 6-6, 200-pounder, was the other first team end. Sistersville's Jim Gaddoul, a 240-pounder, teamed with Spurlock at tackle, while the guards selected were Tuffy Alderson, 209 pounds of Rupert, and Charles Field, Masontown Valley's 155-pounder.

Little Bill Gunn of Huntington Douglass, 135, got the majority of votes for center.

The second team included two Meadow Bridge players, center Monroe Gwinn and back Dale Wells. Joe McCoy, Ravenswood end, was named captain of the second squad.

Fielding Yost of Fairview at end, tackles Hampton Hunter of Liberty and Bob Hockenberry of Marlinton, guard Jerry Riggs of Cameron and Mike Kauffelt of Ronceverte, and backs Joe Malnick of Barrackville, Chrichton's Millard Fleming and Ron Richardson of Masontown Valley completed the second team.

5th Place Detroit Led AL Teams In Fielding

CHICAGO (AP) — One look at the final American League fielding averages would give no indication as to which team won the pennant.

Topping the league in fielding was Detroit with a .982 percentage. The Tigers finished fifth. The champion New York Yankees finished sixth in fielding with a .976 percentage while tailend Washington tied Baltimore for third in fielding with a .980 average.

The Chicago White Sox, league leaders in fielding in 1956 and 1957, finished second to Detroit with .981. Kansas City finished fifth with a .979 average, Boston was seventh with .976 and Cleveland last with .974.

The Yankees, however, had two individual leaders. Bill Skowron led all first basemen with a .993 average through 118 games and Yogi Berra topped the catchers. Yogi had a perfect record through 88 games as he handled 509 putouts and made 41 assists.

Detroit's Frank Bolling came out on top among second basemen. Bolling had a .9849 mark to the .9648 record by Chicago's Nellie Fox. Billy Gardner of Baltimore was third with .9845.

Joe DeMaestri of Kansas City led the shortstops for the second straight season with the identical mark of .980 which made him first in 1957.

Eddie Yost, recently traded to Detroit by Washington, was the No. 1 third baseman with a .964 average.

Baltimore's Jim Busby, traded to Boston this week, made only one error to lead all regular outfielders with a .995 percentage. Al Kaline of Detroit was second with .994 and Washington slugger Roy Sievers was third with a .991.

Ned Garver of Kansas City topped the pitchers with two errors in 77 chances for a .974 average. Thirty seven pitchers went through the season without a miscue with Billy O'Dell of Baltimore topping the perfectionists with 44 chances.

The Yankees again led the league in double plays with 182, one less than their 1957 total.

Hawks Snap 8-Game Losing Streak, 5-2

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Black Hawks aren't exactly what you would call a hot team but they found themselves in a tie for fourth place today in the National Hockey League after winning their first game in eight starts. In the other seven they chalked up four ties.

The two points picked up by the Hawks in their 5-2 triumph over the third place Boston Bruins in the league's only game Wednesday night moved them into a tie with the idle New York Rangers.

Ted Lindsay, the highest scoring left winger in NHL history, paced the Hawks with two goals.

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP) — Jockey Warren Ferguson, an 18-year-old who has been riding slightly more than a year, booted home three winners Wednesday at Tanforan.

Doctors Believe Si Green Has Clot Of Blood On Brain

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sihugo Green, a former All-America college star, has become the second member of the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Assn. to be laid low by an apparent brain ailment.

Specialists said Wednesday they believe that Green, who has been in a hospital here since Dec. 9, has a blood clot on the brain and that surgery may be necessary.

Maurice Stokes, one of the top NBA rebounders, had lain—never more than partly conscious—since last spring with an ailment diagnosed as encephalopathy, a form of brain disease.

Green, who did his collegiate playing at Duquesne, has collapsed three times this season.

The organization is sponsoring a special edition newspaper sale Friday to raise $50,000 for Toledo's needy.

DiSalle said that if the sincere charitable attitude of the Old Newsboys could be applied to the welfare needs of Ohio and the nation, many of the problems of the less fortunate would be solved.

Chandler Giants 'Best' Runner, Passer, Punter

NEW YORK (AP)—Who is the New York Giants' best runner? Best passer? Best punter? It is one and the same man — Don Chandler.

Chandler carried once this year on a fake punt against Baltimore and gained 15 yards. That stands as his average for the season. He passed once and completed it for a gain of 27 yards and a 1.000 percentage. The average for his 65 punts is 44 yards, second only to Washington's Sam Baker in the National Football League.

Although Coach Jim Lee Howell doesn't count on Chandler to do much running or throwing Sunday against Cleveland in the playoff for the eastern division title, he does count heavily on his punting.

Chandler is an Oklahoma boy who went to Florida to play college football. He was a quarterback in high school and junior college and a halfback at Florida under Bob Woodruff.

As a pro, Chandler seldom does anything but kick. But he always has the option from Howell to run on his own if there is a run open. Giant fans were as startled as the Baltimore staff when he faked a punt and ran against the Colts.

"I have been kicking a football as long as I can remember," he said. "I don't remember who taught me. It just seemed to come naturally. . ."

Chandler's longest punt this year was a 65-yard boot against Pittsburgh.

TV Competition Overlooks Viewer Interests

Christmas, for the television networks, is the time of year to shower viewers with garlands of special programs. But for viewers — judging by the advance schedules — this TV Christmas may be the time for schizophrenia.

Marie Torre

Cause: Trying to decide which show to see when two or three programs of merit are placed in opposition. In television, they call the practice "competition." And although there's a strong spirit of competition in allied fields, common courtesies are observed as a rule.

When one motion picture company, for example, holds a critics' screening, a central office is checked to avoid conflict with another film company's press plans.

In the sacroscant white towers of the Broadway theater, opening nights are registered in advance to insure against two premieres at the same time.

IN TELEVISION, however these courtesies do not exist. Instead of subscribing to the correct thing, the networks gleefully and deliberately attempt to stymie the opposition by pitting one good show against another.

And the viewer be damned, even though he is the loyal little fellow who sits by the TV set night after night, exposing himself to Westerns, Easterns, Southerns, Northerns and half-hour nuggets of filmed violence that aren't worth the price of the celluloid.

Then along comes a network announcement about a special show which finds the viewer rubbing his hands in anticipation when, a few days later, another network rolls the drums to announce a spectacular that'll be on the same night, same time, different station.

-:-

THE SUNDAY of Nov. 30 was a sterling example. On this day, a special telecast starring Leonard Bernstein, the brilliant composer-conductor, was set on CBS at 5 p.m. At the same time, on ABC, there was another special which many wanted to see — "Art Carney Meets Peter and the Wolf."

In other words, two shows of special interest were slotted against each other, while an hour later, from 6 to 7 p.m., ABC featured such illuminating fare as "Annie Oakley" and "Hawkeye."

Banker George Craig, 70, of Wadesboro, N. C., retired and started growing pine trees. Says the pine trees are paying off better than a bank.

Parish Conducts Fund Campaign

Parish workers of Midland's Presentation Catholic Church are conducting a Christmas building fund drive which ends Sunday.

Workers are contacting neighbors in their blocks for funds for a new church. It is hoped to begin construction sometime next year.

An architect's sketch of the proposed church has been made available. Robert Garland, assistant pastor, said a final sketch has not been prepared due to changes to be made.

The new building will seat 930 and will be erected at 8th St. and Penn Ave., next to the convent.

The architect is Joseph Bontempo of Rochester. The drive began Monday.

OF GREAT JOY

THE SALVATION ARMY

Of all the great joys in life, perhaps one of the greatest is that which comes through sharing one's blessings with another less fortunate. Especially in the Christmas season do we realize that good fortune and countless blessings may seem empty unless we can share them.

If you wish to share your blessings with the sick, the aged, the lonely, and the hungry, you may do so through The Salvation Army. The Salvation Army will translate your gift into steaming hot dinners for the hungry and homeless, into remembrances for the aged, the lonely and the sick; into toys and games for children; and into help for families who need you to brighten their Christmas.

Thus the Carol becomes meaningful when we endeavor to bring—"Joy To The World".

Beaver Official Urges Support

Needs For Levy-Bond Issue Cited

The need to prevent the return of students to outmoded, dangerous wooden buildings in Beaver Local School District and to provide for an almost 20 per cent increase in enrollment by 1962 was emphasized today by George VanHorne, executive head, in calling for support of a proposed levy-bond issue in a special election Dec. 30.

The 2.1 mill issue would provide for a $220,000 bond issue and a qualifying levy for a $326,000 state grant—all for the district's building program.

AS A RESULT OF the defeat of the proposed issue in the Nov. 4 election, the district faces the strong possibility of losing the state grant, VanHorne said. Failure to approve the levy and the accompanying bond issue would halt plans for the building program.

VanHorne said the growing population—now numbering 2,030—will be 2,448 by September 1962. He said the continuing growth may force the return to "inadequate, outmoded firetrap wooden buildings as early as next fall if we do not have more modern classrooms by then."

"It will be impossible without new classrooms to continue or even hold the advanced academic standing which the district now enjoys for the first time in its history.

"Good teachers and administrators are not going to accept our comparatively low salary schedule to work under such unsatisfactory and handicapping conditions.

"The building power that can be procured for 2.1 mills at present will cost more than double that figure by 1962 when the district, through dire necessity, will be forced to add more classrooms.

"THERE ARE PEOPLE who will condemn these needed improvements to our school district, but remember to ask who they are and what do they actually know about schools. This vital issue is backed solidly by community groups which are connected with the schools—PTA's, mothers clubs and by the Board of Education.

"If you are in doubt about the need for the issue, visit the wooden structures which will have to be used for classroom space if modern facilities are not expanded, and recall the recent school fire disaster in Chicago where 89 pupils lost their lives in a building which was wooden only on the inside."

The executive head urged residents to vote Dec. 30, and to support the issue because "the only effective measure of our progress as people or as a community is our children — they are our obligations and our hopes."

"IT IS within their right to demand that we as parents and adults do for them as was done for us, to provide them with the basic education to equip them to face the sterm competition of their immediate future.

"We would not return to the horse and buggy, and we should not ask our children to return to the old school buildings which are no longer adequate for the more varied and complex education foundation far beyond that which we received as school children."

VanHorne also explained the change in the size of the bond issue to $220,000 from the original $209,000 submitted in November.

The bond issue is needed to increase the district's bonded indebtedness to 9 per cent — a requirement stipulated by the state before grants can be made.

IN NOVEMBER the bond retirement fund of the district was increased by $11,000 through a check from the county auditor's office. The payment, VanHorne explained, increased the bonding capacity of the district, and to make the indebtedness reach 9 per cent again, the size of the proposed bond issue was raised $11,000.

This did not increase the millage sought, however, VanHorne said emphatically. "That millage still is 1.6 mills for the bond issue, while the millage for partial repayment of the grant is a half-mill," VanHorne said.

In discussing the expansion of the district, VanHorne said the enrollment of 8 grades in the district in 1950-51 totaled 1,208. In 1955-56 the enrollment for 8 grades was 1,402.

With the construction of the high school in 1956, providing for two high school classes, enrollment went to 1,740. This year, with the district maintaining a full 12-year system for the first time, enrollment amounts to 2,050.

BY PROJECTING future enrollment on the basis of past expansion, officials predict an enrollment of 2,134 next year, 2,259 in 1960, 2,366 in 1961 and 2,448 in 1962.

Prior to 1956 the district had to pay some $65,000 a year for tuition for pupils attending high schools in other districts, VanHorne said.

The construction of the high school was made possible through passage of a $429,000 bond issue in 1954. In 1955 a $113,000 bond issue was passed to provide funds to complete the school and to set the bonded indebtedness at the minimum so as to keep receiving state aid.

In 1957 a state grant of $576,000 was provided to build the new elementary school and provide for a modern addition at Calcutta. "It is doubtful if this building record has been matched elsewhere in Ohio at such a low cost to the people of the district," VanHorne declared.

THE CURRENT state grant is valid until Jan. 6. "The Board of Education decided to hold a special election as a last ditch effort to take advantage of the grant rather than face a bleak educational future, VanHorne said.

"The board hopes the special election will cancel the negative vote of Nov. 4, proving our people care for good schools," he concluded.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What causes an aluminum pan to bulge out at the bottom?

A. As aluminum pans require less heat for cooking, excess heat often causes this bulging. To straighten it out, heat the pan slowly, and when hot pound the bottom lightly with a hammer.

Q. What is a good home remedy for a throbbing headache?

A. A throbbing headache is often relieved by drinking the juice of half a lemon in fresh water. Follow with the other half in about thirty minutes. Also rub sliced lemon over the temples and brow.

Q. How can I prevent the bottom crust of a fruit pie from becoming soggy from the juice?

A. By brushing the bottom crust with the white of an egg before the fruit is added.

Daughter Charged In Murder In Death Of Her Father, 74

DEDHAM, Mass. (AP)—Socially prominent Miss Isabel Russell, 45, is charged with murder in the death of her father, a onetime wealthy business executive.

The body of Joseph B. Russell, 74, was found Sept. 1 under shrubbery at the family's palatial estate in Westwood, a fashionable suburb about 12 miles southwest of Boston.

A medical examination report showed Russell's chest had been crushed and his back broken. It was not until Miss Russell was brought to court Wednesday that it was learned a police investigation had been under way.

Disheveled, and her hair stringy after battling with arresting officers, Miss Russell pleaded innocent before District Court Judge Gilbert W. Cox.

Before entering court, Miss Russell said: "I did not kill my father. I don't know what this is all about. The last time I saw my father was at midnight last September. The next time was when I saw him lying on the ground outside."

Her uncle, Richard Russell, former mayor of Cambridge and congressman, pleaded with the court that Miss Russell be committed at once to a mental institution for observation.

Judge Cox denied the plea and ordered Miss Russell jailed until a decision is made whether she should be held for grand jury action.

Miss Russell was arrested at a Brookline hotel where she and a sister, Frances, 48, lived since the father's death.

The victim was a former partner in the insurance firm of Obrion, Russell & Co.

The two sisters were the beneficiaries of their father's will. Although once affluent, he left only $55,000.

The next meeting will be Jan. 13.

Pacifist Pastor Gets Your Leave As House Director

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Rev. Maurice McCrackin has been granted a year's leave of absence as director of Findlay Street Neighborhood House, a community center in Cincinnati's Negro West End.

U. S. Fowler, chairman of the Neighborhood house board, said the action was taken so the public and the Rev. Mr. McCrackin, the jailed pacifist minister, would know "he still has a job with us when he returns."

Last week U. S. district Judge John H. Druffel sentenced McCrackin to six months in prison and fined him $250 after his conviction on a charge of failure to heed an Internal Revenue Service summons. The charge was an outgrowth of the minister's refusal to pay income taxes because part of the money goes for military purposes.

4 Re-Elected For Firemen

Irondale Department Also Sets Fund Drive

IRONDALE — Officers were elected when Irondale volunteer firemen met Wednesday night in the fire station.

Four were returned, including Oliver Nicholson, president; Joseph Olesky Jr., vice president; Tom Blackburn, secretary, and Ray Smith, treasurer. Dale Tice was elected custodian to replace Bob Baker.

Named to a fund-raising committee for 1959 were Stanley Tolsen, Quenton Henderson, James Crawford, Olesky and Tice.

In other business conducted by Nicholson, chief, firemen with approval of City Council agreed to ask Saline Township trustees to sign fire contracts for next year.

It was announced that part of new equipment recently purchased has arrived, including a portable pump and suction hose, land lights, hose adaptors, hydrant pump and nozzle holders. The remainder of the equipment should arrive in a few days, it was reported.

Mayor Quenton Henderson has donated a Christmas tree for firemen to plant in the community. As a list of phone numbers for fire alarms has not been completed, residents of the area are to ask the operator for the Irondale fire department in case of emergency, firemen said.

Utility Given Escalator Rate

Coal Increase To Be Passed On By Firm

The Ohio Utilities Commission Wednesday permitted the Ohio Power Co. to increase residential and commercial rates when the cost of fuel used to generate electricity goes up.

The company, with headquarters in Canton, has 440,000 customers in 53 of Ohio's 88 counties.

William Black, district manager, said the utility has approximately 16,000 customers in the East Liverpool, Wellsville and Salineville area.

The company claims that every time the price of coal increases 11 cents a ton, it will mean only an 18-cent a year increase to the average residential customer.

The so-called fuel-cost clause already is in the company's contracts with industrial users.

The commission, in its order, said the company must report to it whenever billing charges vary.

Ohio Power also must submit annual reports beginning not later than the end of February 1960, showing the relation between increased fuel cost to the company and increased charges to customers.

A subsidiary company mines 60 per cent of the coal Ohio Power uses.

Yule Assembly Will Be Held At East Junior High

The Rev. Russell Owens, pastor, of the Second Presbyterian Church, will be guest speaker at the annual Christmas assembly Friday at 11 a. m. at East Junior High School.

The program, planned by the music department, will include vocal music and carols, under the direction of Miss Eleanor Whitehall, and selections by the band, directed by Vincent Maola.

The Student Council, in charge of a variety of activities for the day, decorated the halls, placed a large Christmas tree in the lobby and several live trees in individual rooms — later to be planted on the school grounds.

The council also supervised the collection of canned goods and fruits from the students for baskets to be distributed to two or three needy families tomorrow.

In the afternoon, an individual Christmas gift exchange will be held, with the council furnishing ice cream and the girls of the home economics department supplying cookies.

A dance will follow in the school gymnasium.

Charles Means is the council adviser.

Speakers Available For Social Security

W. L. Hopkins, local agent, said speakers are available to discuss the Social Security program before service clubs and other groups.

Interested organizations may contact him at the Post Office on Mondays and Wednesdays from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. Hopkins works out of the district office at Youngstown, which handles Social Security affairs for Columbiana and Mahoning Counties.

Constitutional Question Pops Up In Inland Boat Regulations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A constitutional question has arisen regarding Ohio's inland boating regulations:

If an administrative branch of state government sets up regulations on the use of boats traveling inland waterways, can a person be held guilty of violating such rules?

Judge Charles B. Holtsberry of Licking County Common Pleas Court in Newark says it's a cardinal principle of representative government that the Legislature cannot delegate its power to make laws.

The one exception is when the Ohio Constitution, either expressly or by implication, authorities the delegation of such power to another body of goverment, the judge says.

Holtsberry cited an Ohio Supreme Court ruling that no act is punishable as a crime unless it is a violation of a properly adopted statute or ordinance.

Therefore, when the Ohio Department of Natural Resources sets up regulations on the speed, size and use of boats on inland waterways, and there is now law passed by the Legislature to this effect, can the regulations be legally enforced?

Judge Holtsberry said no in ruling that the department's regulations for lake boating are unconstitutional.

His ruling came in the case of James Pairan of Thornville, who was charged last June with reckless operation of a boat on Buckeye Lake near Newark. Pairan also thinks the regulations are unconstitutional and pleaded not guilty.

Herbert B. Eagon, Natural Resources director, had no immediate comment Wednesday on the judge's decision. But he said the department's park regulations affecting boating were set up under the Administrative Procedures Act, which has been upheld in previous court tests.

Ex-Union Attorney Denies Advice In Conspiracy Trial

CLEVELAND (AP)—A former union attorney has denied that he ever gave any draft deferment advice to the chief witness for the government in a recent conspiracy trial.

David Scribner made the denial Wednesday in a federal court hearing on a motion for a new trial for seven persons convicted last January on charges of conspiracy to file false non-Communist affidavits with the National Labor Relations Board. He formerly served as counsel for the United Electrical Workers Union.

Testimony of Fred L. Gardner, former UE organizer, at the trial in January is the basis for the new trial motion. It is charged that Gardner lied when he said he had never been in the armed forces.

Gardner admitted at the hearing Tuesday that he went AWOL from the U.S. Army in 1926. He also testified that Scribner had advised him to forget about that situation when Gardner's draft deferment was being considered in 1944. The deferment was asked by UE on the grounds that Gardner was essential to the union's activities.

Scribner testified Wednesday that he had nothing to do with draft matters of UE members. His other work for the union was so great that such matters were taken care of by his assistant, he added.

Seeking a new trial are Marie Reed Haug, her husband, Fred, and Hyman Lumer, all of Cleveland; Eric Reinthaler of Willowick, Andrew Remes of Brooklyn, N. Y., and James West and Sam Reed, both of Chicago.

Stassen Gives Views On German Unity

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Harold E. Stassen says the United States should sanction unification of East and West Germany if Russia will agree to complete atomic disarmament of Germany with assurance of United Nations inspection.

Stassen, former adviser to President Eisenhower, spoke Wednesday night before the Toledo Council on World Affairs.

The German situation, he said, is an example of self-centered American foreign policy.

Russian Envoy Finds Himself In 'Lone Wolf' Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov found himself in something of a lone wolf role at Wednesday night's White House state dinner for diplomats, with "no lady allocated for me."

Protocol seemed to be taking a backseat in other ways.

President Eisenhower passed up champagne with his guests from 43 nations to join 44 choir boy entertainers having soft drinks.

The White House staged the first of two dinners for the heads of 83 foreign missions.

Of the 78 guests Wednesday night, there were 10 "extra" men and Ambassador Menshikov was one of them.

The usually smiling Russian, looking a little glum, walked alone as the diplomats and ladies went two by two into the East Ballroom for an after-dinner musicale.

When reporters asked why he was alone, he smiled and explained that his wife was home in Moscow and there was "no lady allocated for me."

He was still alone as the guests went into a late evening buffet. He was among the first guests to leave.

Struck Plant To Close For Economic Reasons

CLEVELAND (AP)—A struck plant of Container Corp. of America is being permanently closed for what the company termed "economic reasons."

The 100 employes represented by the Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers Local 250 walked off the job last Friday. Shutdown of the plant was announced Wednesday.

The company labeled the walkout a wildcat strike and said its contract with the union didn't expire until next June.

In a petition to the National Labor Relations Board the union charged the company with "failure to bargain" on the layoff of 10 employes and the seniority status of 19 others. It also accused the firm of "threatening the union with a lockout."

Town Without Lights, No Money To Pay Bill

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — The nearby village of South Lebanon, with a population of about 1,300, is without street lights because it doesn't have any money to pay its electric bill.

Village Council asked Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. to shut off electric power.

Mayor Miles Terry said the village owes a $2,480 electric bill and that it costs $240 a month to keep the street lights burning.

"There just doesn't seem to be much sense in running up a bill we can't hope to pay," Terry added.

Mayor Terry said defeat of a 3.5 mill tax levy for the village at the November election eliminated any hope for replenishing the general fund.

Dies In Plunge

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Melvin R. Williams, 45, a magazine salesman, believed to be from Michigan, City, Ind. died Wednesday in a 50-foot plunge from a fifth-floor window of an Ironton hotel.

School To Hold 'Mistletoe Ball'

Final plans for a "Mistletoe Minuet," the annual Chester High School Christmas dance, were completed at a meeting of the Student Council Wednesday afternoon.

The dance will be held at the high school gymnasium Saturday at 8:30, and music will be provided by James Peddycord's orchestra. Admission will be $1 a person.

The theme will be based on an old-fashioned Christmas, with decorations of wreaths, a sleigh, snowflakes and Santa.

Committees include: Program — Pat Pinney; table reservations — Bill Parsons; table decorations — Darlene Walker and the home economics class; refreshments — Kenda Roberts, Christine Lyle and Danielle Chapko.

On the decorating committee are Jerry Linger and Rita Rossy, co-chairmen, Glen Stanley, Ralph Williams, Linda Covert, Cynthia Pinney, Pam Rockwell, Ralph Rossy, Ed Jordan, Carolyn Ambrose, John Rodocker, Marilee Mosser, Jerry Allison and Bill Allison.

Ohio Due 20 Million In '59 For Poor Relief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy says more than 20 million dollars will be available for distribution to counties next year for poor relief purposes.

The money comes from utility taxes, which set a new record for the calendar year with a total of $37,890,809. Tracy said Wednesday that's an increase of $1,754,795 over the 1957 collection.

In Scholarship Tests

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ohio's two representatives to a six-state competition for Rhodes scholarships are a Toledo West Pointer and a Williams College Senior from Columbus. Chosen by a five-member selections committee Wednesday were Stanley M. Kanarowski, 21, of Toledo and John H. Betz, 21, of Columbus.

School Group Retains Guard

Christmas Program Given At McKinley

The McKinley Home and School Association Tuesday night voted to retain Mrs. Betty Berg as school crossing guard and to pay her salary for next semester.

The city is suspending the school guard program Dec. 31 for lack of funds as a result of the repeal of the municipal income tax at the Nov. 4 election.

Highlighting the program was a play, "Thirty Minutes with Santa Claus," by the fourth grade children.

Mrs. Ann Stewart Kerr, Mrs. Hazel Neiser and Mrs. Ruth Ladzinske, teachers, were in charge of the program, which was announced by Mrs. Paul Rowland.

Business was conducted by Robert Patterson, vice president, and devotions were offered by William Gaston.

Mrs. Irene Moore and Mrs. Steve Prodonovich conducted roll call.

The social hour was directed by Mrs. Lawrence Keeper and Mrs. Robert Turner.

The fourth grade won the attendance banner.

The program theme for the next meeting Jan. 13 is "A Desk for Billie."

Devotions will be offered by Elmon Roy, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, and the social hour will be directed by the fourth grade homeroom mothers.

To "blanch" a food, dip it in boiling water and then plunge it into cold water.

Ice Disrupting Navigation In West Lake Erie

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Coast Guard says the worst ice conditions in years are disrupting navigation at the western end of Lake Erie.

Two vessels with damaged steering gear, the Henry R. Platt and Collinwood, needed assistance from Coast Guard cutters and commercial tugs. Both are being towed to Toledo, with the Platt expected there about noon today.

The Coast Guard said the cutter Ojibwa put in to Detroit for repair of minor damage sustained in the battle with drifting ice, which is 10 feet thick in spots.

The Ojibwa was assisting the giant 10,000-horsepower Mackinaw and the cutters Tupelo, Acacia, and Mesquite in forging channels through the ice.

Said Captain Oliver A. Peterson, ninth district chief of staff:

"The records indicate this is the greatest concentration of Coast Guard ice breaking assistance ever required in a single area during the December closing of navigation on the Great Lakes."

Several freighters have been maneuvering since last Sunday to escape ice in the Livingstone Channel at the southern end of the Detroit River, Pelee Passage, Middle Ground and near Toledo Harbor.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Children's Christmas Called 'Selfish Season'

The famous historian Toynbee has said that the biggest original sin is self - centeredness. From the time the average child is three or four till he grows up, he is wondering for weeks before Christmas what presents he is going to get. Isn't this a really selfish experience? Naturally, since the child is on the receiving end of Christmas, he feels it is more glorious to get than to give. Only occasionally does he feel it is more blessed to give than to receive.

By Garry Meyers

YET WE who call ourselves Christians celebrate Christmas in honor of the birth of the most unselfish person who ever walked upon this earth. We go to church and take our children to Sunday School where emphasis is placed on unselfishness and love for others.

In spite of this, our children and grandchildren seem to get special practice for several weeks around Christmas each year feeling and acting selfishly.

We parents really try to train our children in unselfish ways even around Christmas time. We encourage them to earn or save money and to choose some personal sacrifices in order to make or buy gifts for their parents and other persons.

Teachers of church schools and public schools also encourage youngsters to make gifts for their parents and loved ones. We urge our children to give presents to persons from whom they don't expect to receive gifts. Certainly these are good directions in which we may work.

Pronounced as the problem of selfishness seems around Christmas time, actually it is only magnified then. Selfishness relates to the child's whole development and upbringing.

Of course we must protect him, make personal sacrifices for him and give and do for him what he can't get and do for himself, especially in his earlier years.

GRADUALLY the time comes when he should be denied what we know is not good for him, when we should not do for him what he can do for himself. Instead many of us incline to go on giving and doing more than we should, often at great personal sacrifice.

We tend to assume that, as he sees unselfishness in our own attitudes toward him, he will emulate our unselfishness. But frequently it doesn't work out this way and instead he tends to grow more selfish.

The trouble is he has been on the receiving end too long. He has become practiced at getting and not giving. The more we give and do for the growing child, as a rule, the more he expects us to keep on giving — and the more self - centered and selfish he becomes as a result.

Four medium - sized green peppers usually make one pound.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Will Power Needed To Take Off Weight

If your psychology on this business of taking off weight is right, you'll have all the will power needed to slim down to healthy normal.

Overweights have no doubts on this score—the mind plays an important role in slimming.

Ida Jean Kain

The truth is, weight control is three-fourths psychology. Once you decide to change food habits for good, the rest is easy.

All right, first analyze how you feel about changing your good habits. Feel put-upon because you can't continue to eat fattening foods and you will never make the grade? Why? Because your mind will be working against you, dwelling on fattening foods.

One overweight who had struggled with excess poundage for years hit upon a psychological plan that worked slimming wonders for her.

AT DINNER one night, she reflected ruefully that the only time she was really happy was at meals. Startled at this admission, she calculated the amount of time spent eating, about an hour and a half daily.

Then and there she decided that overeating at meals took most of the joy out of all the other hours...for it is no pleasure to be burdened with excess pounds and forced to wear size 20-½. From then on she began to look for absorbing interests, and this helped her make a game out of eating for normal weight. The change in her thinking did the trick.

Another dieter who put her mind to the problem of reducing was successful in taking off 30 pounds of excess weight. She was a homemaker and had tried any number of diets, but always felt sorry for herself because she had to cook meals for the family. Here is a part of her letter.

"I was forever starting a diet, but hated every minute of it and couldn't seem to force myself to continue even though the doctor had warned me to reduce. Finally I decided I had been going about it all wrong.

"I always went on strict diets instead of changing my food habits, and I bitterly resented the fact that I had to cook meals for the family. Finally I tried to think differently about it all...and planned meals that I could eat too, but took smaller helpings.

"I even made desserts for the family, but always had something nice planned for myself—fresh melon, fruit ice or my favorite cheese.

"THE SCIENCE of nutrition is wonderful. But the important part is to first change your thinking . . . so keep right on with the mental reminders."

If you would like to change your food habits, send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Firemen Demonstrate; Boy Gives False Alarm

LEXINGTON, N. C. — Second graders from Dinbar Elementary School visited the Lexington Fire Department in the morning hours.

A fireman directed the tour. He showed them the trucks and the apparatus, explaining how it all worked. And he showed them how to turn in a fire alarm.

And, of course, a fire alarm came in at 3:25 p. m., after school was out. Twenty firemen and 11 volunteers rushed to the alarm box. There was no smoke, no fire anywhere.

The usual false alarm investigation was made and the unhappy culprit was found. He, of course, was one of the 7-year-olds who had watched so interestedly the demonstration that morning.

Was Flooded Out

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — B. P. Gambrel estimates he lost someone opened an irrigation ditch about $500 in earthworms when and flooded the plot where he was growing them for fishermen.

Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

(Esteban is seeking help to stop the professor from releasing poison gas on Christmas Day which will kill all the fairies. With the help of the Snuke, he has reached Santa Land. He runs toward Santa's house shouting, "Santa, Santa!")

CHAPTER 13

Santa stared at the boy who came running toward him across the snow.

"It's Esteban!" he exclaimed. "The elf who lost his wings! What has happened? You look frightened half to death!"

"Oh, I am," gasped Esteban. "I have terrible news. There is hardly any time left and there is a man who is going to destroy all fairies on Christmas Day!"

Then Esteban told Santa the whole story of the Hangdog Hag's spell and the professor's plan to destroy them all.

"How awful!" cried Santa.

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" he murmured, puffing distractedly on his pipe. Suddenly he turned away. "Come, there is no time to lose!"

"Where are we going?"

"To the home of the Hangdog Hag," said Santa. "We must persuade her to break the spell over the professor's wife."

HE STRODE away with Esteban at his heels. "Hitch up the sleigh!" he ordered when they arrived at the stables.

"What are you thinking of?" cried Patrick Tweedleknees, who was the oldest dwarf in Santa Land and who this year was in charge of the reindeer. "The deer mustn't go out now. They must rest to be ready for Christmas!"

"If I don't take them out now there won't be any Christmas," replied Santa. And he himself began harnessing the deer while Tweedleknees wrung his hands.

A few minutes later Santa and Esteban were flying through the sky headed for the home of the Hangdog Hag. They arrived, at last, on the very tip-top of a faraway mountain where a one-room shack stood silent and alone.

But alas! When they opened the door they found the shack empty.

"She's been long gone," groaned Santa. "And it looks as though she doesn't plan to return."

Santa told the people of Fairyland about the great peril.

It was true. Every piece of furniture had been smashed. The windows were broken and even the brooms were lying in shreds.

Heavy-hearted, Santa and Esteban returned to the sleigh and made the sad trip back to Santa Land. There, Tweedleknees glared at them furiously as he unharnessed the deer.

BUT SANTA ignored his bad humor. "Send a message to the Queen Fairy," he ordered. "Tell her to come at once. Send the same message to all the fairy folk you can reach."

Tweedleknees' mouth fell open. He understood, at last, that there was trouble—big trouble—for only once in a hundred years did Santa send such a message to fairy folk. Tweedleknees rushed away to send out the alarm in Fairyland's own secret language.

Within a few hours there arrived at Santa's door an army of goblins and imps and witches and elves. Santa told them the story of their great peril and the little folk listened and trembled.

"What shall we do?" they whispered.

"We must find the Hangdog Hag," said Santa. "That is why I have called you here. Who has seen the Hag or heard of her or knows where she can be?"

"I saw her lately crossing the moors to the land where witches live," said a weeping will-o'-the-wisp.

"I carried her across the witches' river," exclaimed a tiny elf boatman.

"She's with you then!" exclaimed Santa turning to the witches.

But the witches sadly shook their heads and the oldest, crookedest witch stepped forward and croaked, "She's gone."

"Gone where?" cried Santa.

"To the moon," whispered the witch in a cracking voice.

Public Works Will Advertise For Bids On Pipeline System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Public Works is about ready to advertise for bids for a pipeline system. It would supply water in bulk to seven southeastern Ohio communities.

The pipeline and water purification plant would cost about $96,500 and let residents of Glouster, Jacksonville, Trimble, New Straitsville, Hollister, Shawnee and Murray City use Burr Oak Reservoir water. The communities are in Athens, Hocking and Perry counties.

Col. Herbert Eagon, director of the Department of Natural Resources, says his real estate men are negotiating easements (right to use another's land) for the pipeline. He expects easements for land outside the seven municipalities may be obtained promptly because publicly owned land is involved primarily. He does not believe any land will have to be bought.

Action of municipal councils is necessary before the other land can be used. Eagon said municipalities will be encouraged to proceed with easements.

Lee W. Blackburn, chief engineer in the Department of Public Works, says that bids can be taken shortly after easements are ready. Bids can be opened 30 days after the project is advertised. Blackburn said the project may begin in the spring.

Four years ago the Legislature appropriated money to begin studying the project. The last Legislature appropriated construction money. Plans were completed several months ago and since then have been approved by the Division of Water and the Department of Health.

Three Muskingum Students Fined In Bomb Note Scare

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP) — Three Muskingum College students have been fined in Mayor's Court here on charges stemming from a note that touched off a bomb scare in two girl's dormitories.

Charged with sending a threatening letter through the mails, a misdemeanor, were Derke Esler, 21, of Tarentum, Pa.; Tom Earley 19, of Dover, Ohio, and Terry Schoener, 25, of Pittsburgh.

Esler, a sophomore, admitted the charge and was fined $50 and costs Wednesday night by Mayor J. K. Taylor. Earley, also a sophomore, and Schoener, a junior, denied the charge but were found guilty and fined $25 each.

Authorities evacuated both dormitories Nov. 18. Muskingum officials received a note made up from letters clipped from a magazine. The note said in part: "Prepare for eternity. A bomb is going to explode at 11 a.m."

Authorities described the incident as strictly a prank.

Recipes for jams and jellies using commercial pectin usually direct that the mixture be brought to "a full rolling boil;" that means a boil that can't be stirred down.

Sen. Mechem Gets New Post

Becomes Minority Leader In Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. C. Stanley Mechem, for the last six years majority leader of the Ohio Senate, has been chosen minority leader for the Senate which convenes Jan. 5.

The Nelsonville Republican, who will be starting his ninth Senate term, was the unanimous choice of the 13-man Republican delegation. Democrats will have 20 seats in the new Senate.

Mechem told newsmen with a laugh, after the closed GOP caucus:

"It will be interesting to vote 'no' once in a while."

That comment doesn't mean, he hastened to add, that the Republicans plan to be obstructionists. He added:

"We will support major legislation of benefit to the public, but we will not take orders on legislation."

Mechem said Republicans will oppose a plan reportedly advocated by some Democrats to recess after a short regular session of the Legislature with a view of reconvening after financial and other problems have been studied.

Future Brides Taught How To Shoot Straight

KEARNY, N. J. (AP) — Mrs. Emma Vilardi is teaching brides of the future something she thinks will be valuable in their married lives — how to shoot straight.

Every week she gives rifle instruction to a group of teen-agers at the Police Athletic League rifle range.

"The girls feel that by learning to shoot now they will be able to share a common interest with their husbands," said Mrs. Vilardi.

Water Goes In Drain After Pump's Repaired

CALERA, Okla. (AP) — After a breakdown of several days, Calera's water pumping machinery was repaired and Water Superintendent Andrew Hamilton threw the switch.

The flow of new water didn't fill the mains and Hamilton investigated. He discovered many residents had left their faucets open and water was pouring down the drain.

But It Still Hurts

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Retired Marine Corps Maj. Gen. Walter G. Farrell testified he was bitten by a Chinese poodle. He had sued retired navy Capt. Theodore J. Schultz, the poodle's owner, for $100,000 damages. Schultz' attorney contended Farrell was bitten by his own Labrador retriever while separating the fighting dogs. The jury denied any damages.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Albert V. Dix, publisher of the Martins Ferry, Ohio, Times-Leader, and members of his family have been given authorization to acquire a controlling interest in Television Channel 7, WTRF-TV, at Wheeling, W. Va.

The Federal Communications Commission Wednesday authorized the Dix family to acquire an additional 56 per cent interest in the station from the Jesse A. Bloch estate and the News Publishing Co. of Wheeling. The deal involved $1,684,000. The Dix family already owns a 38 per cent interest in the station.

The commission also authorized Joel W. Rosenblum of WTIG, Massillon, Ohio, and WISR, Butler, Pa. to be assigned the license of WACB in Kittanning, Pa., for $74,019.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm the mother of three teen-age boys. They are all good students, members of the "Y," active in athletics and their dad and I are proud of them.

The oldest boy is 17 and an ardent stamp collector. In September he sent away for some stamps which he saw advertised in a magazine. Three weeks after the stamps arrived he received a rather large envelope on which was written personal.

When he came from school I handed him the envelope and he opened it in my presence.

It contained a folder advertising photographs of nude women. The sale price of these vulgar pictures was $1 each. Two free samples were enclosed. A second folder described "home movies for the crowd—fellas only, of course."

There was also a perfume-scented letter written on pink stationery. It was signed "Peggy." She offered a recording of her voice which could be played on a 78-r.p.m. machine.

The letter said: "I'll be speaking to you in the privacy of your own room—just the two of us. My record plays for six wonderful minutes. The price is only $5.

"You'll never miss this small amount and a girl in my position (stuck in Hollywood with so many phonies) has to make a living somehow."

My son looked at the material and said, "My Lord what junk!" He threw everything in the waste basket. When he left the room I retrieved it because I wanted to show it to my husband and discuss with him a course of action.

My husband suggested I send the material to you and ask for your advice. Please tell us what can be done to keep this filth out of our homes?

It makes me sick to think that thousands of youths are being exposed to such trash.—IRATE MOTHER AND DAD.

Dear Irate Mother and Dad: Thank you for the letter and enclosures. I've received identical material from others. Most of this junk comes from California, some from New York.

Smut peddling is a 350-million-dollar-a-year racket. Until now, the filth merchants have been operating with a fairly free hand. Some attempts have been made to nail them but the law had no teeth—until recently.

In the past the Post Office Department was handicapped seriously because of a court ruling which held that a dealer in pornography could be prosecuted only in the city where the material was dropped in the mail and not in the city where it was received.

The last session of Congress enacted a new law as a result of pressures from outraged parents and school and church authorities.

This law authorizes the government to prosecute mailers of filthy material in any community where it is received.

Parents are no longer obliged to sit helplessly by while this garbage invades their homes. There is something that can be done and I urge all parents to cooperate by turning the material over to the local post office authorities immediately upon receiving it.

The postmaster will put it in the hands of the local United States district attorney for prosecution before a local judge and jury.

The new law calls for a maximum penalty of a $5,000 fine and five years in prison for the first offense. A second offense means $10,000 and 10 years in prison.

I would like to shout a personal hallelujah for this new piece of legislation. Now that the law is on our side, let's throw the book at these unconscionable low-lifes who prey on America's teen-age children.

Confidentially

TO ALTA-MONITA: See a lawyer. Certainly a man must "let off steam" but a woman needs teeth in her mouth. This is no marriage. Wake up.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Christmas Tree Can Be Kept Fresh With These Hints

Have trouble keeping your Christmas tree fresh last year?

Oliver Johnson, Hancock County's agricultural agent, has offered several tips to keep this year's tree fresh, green and fragrant, in addition to a formula for figuring out the number of lights and decorations needed.

Johnson suggests that upon cutting a tree and hauling it home, to cut a one-inch block off the butt and place the tree immediately in a container of water.

Store the tree in a cool place, protected from wind and freezing, and sprinkle with water often until time for decorations, Johnson said.

The farm agent added that "when it comes time to place your tree in a stand and bring it into the house, another cut should be made on the butt of the tree so that it can absorb water more rapidly."

"If the cut is made at a 45-degree angle, more water can be readily absorbed," Johnson explained. The average tree will take up a pint or more of water a day, Johnson said. "The cooler the place the tree is stored, the longer it will stay nice," he said.

Johnson also offered this formula for figuring the number of lights and decorations for the tree. Multiply the height of the tree by the width at the base, times 3.

"For example," he said, "a tree 5 feet high and 3 feet wide at the base, times the factor of 3, would give a figure of 45, which would be the number of lights or decorations desired."

He also suggested using long needle pines if decorations are limited.

Children At Taft Entertain At PTA

A Christmas program was presented by students when Taft Parent-Teacher Association met Tuesday night.

First grade students gave a play, "Christmas Party," which included questions and answers on the Yule season. The second grade presented a play, "What Christmas Means," and the third grade, "Santa's Happiness Makers."

Fourth grade students gave choral reading of "The Birth of Jesus." Selections by the fifth and sixth grade senior choir included "Silver Bells," "Over the River and Through the Snow," "Winter Wonderland" and "Silent Night."

Frank Siddel, vice president, presided for business. He reported that an auto harp and a set of World Books had been purchased. Willen Baumgarner gave the invocation and led the pledge of allegiance.

No date was set for the next meeting.

Experience Foremost In Picking Space Pilots

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space pilots who will man the Dyna-Soar—the most advanced weapon system under development today—will be chosen because of their experience and not their age.

Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Assn., says the pilots selected for the initial flight on the Dyna-Soar—a manned boost-glide vehicle with orbital flight potential—will be approximately five feet ten, and weigh between 150 and 155 pounds. Their training will include being whirled in huge centrifuges and making simulated space flights and many of the expected conditions duplicated.

The duration of life of the average housefly varies from 10 to 15 days. Experiments have been made, however, that reveal the fact that the longest life of a fly is about 62 days.

After France's Troubles With Algeria

West Germany Seen Third Military Power In NATO

PARIS (AP)—West Germany is becoming the third most important military power in the Atlantic Alliance, taking the place left vacant by France's troubles in Algeria and her disputes with her allies.

This picture emerged from the annual assessment of NATO strength. The meeting of ministers from the 15 treaty nations headed to its conclusion tonight with big gains for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany and losses for French Premier Charles de Gaulle.

Not that there was any dispute between representatives of the two leaders. Since De Gaulle became premier June 1, circumstances have made them friends seeking the same goals—at least over the short range.

But the Germans were NATO's fair-haired boys. The French had to defend their military shortcomings and failed to win the top place in Allied councils which De Gaulle seeks.

All 15 countries agreed with the military goals presented by the supreme Allied commander, U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad. But an official spokesman added that Norstad's program of 30 combat-ready divisions at full strength and of speeding up development of nuclear weapons was accepted only as an objective. This was an admission that some nations, notably France, are dragging their feet.

For several years NATO military planners have been disturbed by France's inabilty to end the Algerian rebellion and bring back to Europe the several hundred thousand troops sent to quell the nationalist uprising.

During those years the West Germans have been building a new military force. Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss said by the end of March West Germany will have a 200,000-man force in the NATO defense line.

A further indication of West Germany's emergence as the West's major continental military power was contained in the report that for the first time Germans will produce missiles. They will work with France and Italy on antiaircraft missiles which probably will be equipped eventually with nuclear warheads, informants said.

French Army Minister Pierre Guillaumant defended his country's sparse contribution to NATO defenses. He said France would do its best to fulfill its European role but it has many overseas obligations and is "holding the flank of NATO," meaning North Africa.

Dulles Bares Progress On Talks For Test Ban

PARIS (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today reported to North Atlantic Treaty Organization members that a little progress has been made in talks with the Soviet Union on suspending nuclear tests.

But, he said, it is premature to be optimistic as to ultimate success because the Soviet views on the nature of control differ sharply from the views of the Western powers.

May Be Little Better

Yule Business Is Expected To Equal That Of Last Year

NEW YORK (AP)—"Christmas business will equal last year and may be a little better. But it's not running away."

This cautiously phrased comment from M. E. Arnett, vice president of Bullock's Department Store in Los Angeles, typifies the attitude of hundreds of retailers across the country interviewed by The Associated Press in a survey of Christmas business prospects.

Most are confident of beating last year's record totals (thanks in part to slightly higher prices and an extra shopping day). But few see anything that resembles a real boom.

"There's more cash in town this year," says Charles E. Boyd of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce, "but people aren't spending the money."

Brightest spot on the 1958 Christmas retail scene is Texas.

"There's no doubt but that the buying public has the money and a disposition to spend it," declares a merchant in Fort Worth. "To say business is good is putting it mildly, for if it gets any better it will be terrific."

And an Abilene, Tex., store official states: "If it was any better I don't know what I'd do."

Christmas business is good in Denver. High on the list of wanted merchandise are such relatively costly items as stereophonic hi-fi sets, pianos, organs, outboard motors and boats.

But in Cleveland, Pittsburgh and New Orleans, merchants hope to match last year's sales but are not sure they will.

Big retailers say they've been doing as well or better than last year but they're comparing current business with a brutally tough 1957 period when traffic was snarled by a subway strike. Most say telephone and mail order business — which amounts to 15 per cent of total Christmas sales — is down sharply.

Store traffic held up fairly well in the early days of the newspaper blackout but declined as the strike entered its second week. Another strike-inspired problem: How to get rid of specially priced gift items the stores had intended to push via spectacular sales campaigns. Warehouses are bursting with merchandise of this type.

Geneva Talks On Surprise Attacks Failed

GENEVA (AP) — The 10-nation conference on prevention of surprise attacks ended today in complete failure.

The talks never got down to a serious discussion of a surprise attack alert system because East and West were in total disagreement on the very purpose of the conference.

The Soviet bloc made a vain effort at the 4½-hour final meeting to have Jan. 5—or any other date — fixed for resumption of the talks.

The Western group, led by William C. Foster of the United States, firmly told the Soviet bloc it was useless to reconvene unless an agreed basis for the discussions could be established in direct contacts between the governments concerned.

The United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada represented the North Atlantic Treaty powers; and the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Albania the East bloc.

The conference opened Nov. 10 and became bogged down from the start in procedural arguments.

The Western side submitted numerous technical proposals in the hope the Soviet bloc would agree to discuss these without bringing up political issues.

Hays-Alford Dispute May Rock House

Special Committee Votes Against Seat For Segregationist

WASHINGTON (AP — The Hays-Alford election dispute moved today toward a possibly bitter fight that could rock the House.

A special House committee voted 3-2 Wednesday to recommend that Dr. Dale Alford, Little Rock segregationist, be denied a seat pending an investigation into charges of irregularities and fraud in his election. The two no votes came from Southerners.

Alford, who testified he believed he was elected honestly, promised to push his case at once.

Alford entered the November election at virtually the last minute.

Running as a write-in candidate, he beat Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark), an avowed moderate on segregation, by about 1,200 votes.

The committee's Southerners, Chairman Clifford Davis (D-Tenn) and Robert Jones (D-Ala), agreed the election should be investigated. But they said Alford should be seated pending the outcome of the inquiry. This, they said, would be in line with past procedure.

The Southerners were outvoted by Representatives Thomas O'Neill (D-Mass), Kenneth Keating (R-NY) and David Dennison (R-Ohio).

The formal challenge to Alford's election came not from Hays but from John F. Wells, Little Rock publisher of a weekly newspaper.

Wells told the committee there were numerous irregularities in the vote. He said stickers used by the Alford write-in voters were illegal, and that there were more votes than listed voters in some instances, and that Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas and others conspired to unseat Hays.

Hays said that since he is not contesting the election, "it is the simple question of whether it was an honest election."

Hays will be honored tonight at a dinner to be atiended by high government officials, church leaders and others.

FACES $100 MILLION DEFICIT. Sitting next to Gov. Williams' empty chair while he vacations in Florida, State Controller James W. Miller of Michigan announced at a press conference Wednesday that the state "simply cannot pay" all of its bills and faces a deficit of at least $100 million in June, 1959. Miller said at Lansing, Mich., there isn't enough money in sight and won't be enough until the legislature gets more cash into the treasury by some process. (UPI Telephoto)

Skidding Auto Rams Into Bus

Parked Truck Drifts Into Union St. Wall

No one was hurt when a skidding auto struck a Grandview Line bus today at 7:44 a. m. on a Jennings Ave. curve, police reported.

A 1956 sedan driven by Mrs. Mildred J. Sauerbrei, 209 Maplewood Ave., struck a bus of the Inter - City Transit Co. operated by Charles Claypool, 29, of 1127 Harker Ave., officers said.

Police said the pavement was "very icy" at the spot where the crash occurred. The southbound auto skidded on the curve and hit the north - bound bus, officers said. There was extensive damage to the left front of the car. The left front of the bus also was damaged, police said.

A pickup truck drifted away from a parking place on Union St. at 3 p. m. Wednesday and struck a stone wall at the property of Dean McShane, 308 Union St., officers said. Owned by Smith Auto Parts of E. 4th St. and Broadway, the truck apparently slipped its emergency brake and coasted down the steep grade, police said. The front bumper was damaged.

Lewis Barron, 49, of Box 411, Midland, was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his 1956 sedan struck the rear of a 1955 sedan driven by Viola Agnes Seacrist, 825 Chester Ave., about 6:05 p.m.

$343,750 Seen Share On Road For Wellsville

City Delegation Told By Engineer Project To Cost $4½ Million

Wellsville's share of the cost of relocating Route 7 through the city probably will exceed $343,750, officials learned at a meeting Wednesday afternoon with W. E. Quicksall, Highway Department Division 11 engineer, at New Philadelphia.

Fifteen from Wellsville attended the session when Quicksall outlined preliminary plans for the estimated $4½-million project.

The city's share will be based on 5 per cent of the project. However, the officials were told that the figures presented them are just estimates and that when a more exhaustive study is made of the relocation it will bring to light more items which are expected to increase the final cost.

The relocation will follow Buckeye Ave. and will join the recently completed Yellow Creek-Wellsville super - road and the East Liverpool - Wellsville super-road.

The relocation is necessary as the existing route through town is congested, the pavement too narrow and it will provide more adequate traffic flow, Quicksall told the group.

Plans call for the relocation, grading, draining, and paving of a four - lane limited access road with one full and two partial interchanges. One of the interchanges will be near Route 39 and another at Route 45. The other is expected near 25th St. where the Yellow Creek project starts.

A breakdown of the estimates follows:

$1,300,000, roadway; $700,000, pavement; $1,000,000, structures over 20-feet; $1,000,000, right-of-way; $225,000, detours and incidentals, and $150,000, construction and engineering.

The city's share of these items is $218,750 but $125,000 for the preliminary engineering raises the cost to the estimated $343,750.

The estimates are based on figures from the preliminary survey of the route made by Good, Kind & O'Day, consulting engineers.

Quicksall said the estimates are expected to be low, but they are the best available at the time.

The project will be included in the next biennium appropriation for 1959-1961. Division 11 has $60

Stanton Board Will Resubmit School Bonds

The Stanton Board of Education has passed a resolution to resubmit a $498,000 bond issue to voters next spring for a new consolidated school at Empire and installation of inside toilets at the Hammondsville School.

The proposal was defeated twice in 1958 but the Board unanimously agreed at a special session to submit the proposal again early in 1959 due to "the critical situation facing the school district and the urgency of the new building."

Date for the special election has been set tentatively for June 2. The levy for the bond issue, as submitted to the board by Stephen J. Hamrock, Jefferson County auditor, will be 2.4 mills.

This is a reduction from the 5.1-mill rate proposed in the previous issue.

The decrease is due to the recent boost of the valuation of the Stanton district with construction of the Ohio Edison Co. plant, a $75 million project, at Stratton.

The proposal calls for a 10-room consolidated school in Empire which will cost approximately $480,000. The remaining $18,000 will be used for installing inside toilets in the Hammondsville building—the only school in Stanton without such facilities.

In a special election in July, a $480,000 issue was defeated, 515-409. It was increased to $498,000 to provide funds for the inside toilets but the proposal was again defeated in the Nov. 4 general election by a vote of 713-629.

Record Income Seen, Buying Power Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the dollar income of Americans will set a record in 1958, real income in terms of buying power has declined from 1957 because of inflation.

The Commerce Department said personal income for the full year will exceed 353 billion dollars, up more than five billions from 1957.

Chester Sets Sewer Rate To Finance Plant

Charge To Be 110% Of Water Bill For $350,000 Project

Legislation establishing a sewer rate schedule in Chester to implement construction of a proposed $350,000 sewage disposal plant, was ordered by Chester Council at a meeting Wednesday night.

In a 4-1 vote, Council authorized preparation of an ordinance for a rate of 110 per cent of the water bills paid by city residents.

The schedule was proposed by the Chester Sanitary Board, which includes John Pinney, J. A. Bower and Dale K. Allison, who discussed the rates with Council last night.

Following Council's move to initiate the legislation, Allison submitted his resignation from the board. He declined to give a reason.

Board members advised Council the rate schedule and plans for collection were required by the city to enable the board to make application for federal aid for the project in January.

Board members said after an extensive study, they agree it would be necessary to charge a fee equivalent to 110 per cent of the water bills to raise an annual $32,000 payment for the project. There are 1,146 water customers in Chester.

The estimates were based on a predicted cost of $350,000 for the plant and system made five years ago by A. R. Todd, Wheeling engineer.

Board members indicated they had attempted to set a fair sewage rate and pointed out it could be reduced later if warranted.

Councilman James Waggle made the motion that City Solicitor William Conklin be instructed to prepare the ordinance for sewer rates recommended by the board. Councilman John Olash seconded the motion. They and Councilmen John Abrams and Walter McSwegin supported the motion. Councilman Charles Kology, in the discussion with the board, said he believes the rate is "too high." He said the community of Oak Hill, W. Va., with a population larger than Chester, has a 60 per cent sewer rate.

Following the final vote on the

State Department Declines Comment On Red Approach

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility of high level Soviet-American policy talks here opened up today with a report that Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan would like to visit Washington early next year.

Mikoyan is in the inner circle of Kremlin leadership close to Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The State Department has declined comment but the Soviet government was understood to have approached the U.S. embassy in Moscow about arranging the trip.

Mikoyan's immediate purpose would be to visit Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov. It would be his second visit to this country. His first was in 1936 as head of an industrial survey group.

The United States, some informants said, has not yet made a decision. But indications were that it would agree to the suggestion.

President Eisenhower proposed last February that leading Soviet personalities should come to this country and rid themselves by first hand observation of false conceptions which Eisenhower said they have about the United States.

Presumably if he came here, the 63-year-old Mikoyan would be prepared to discuss a wide range of outstanding disagreements and tensions.

But the belief here is that his main interest would be to promote greater trade.

In a letter to Eisenhower June 2, Khrushchev said such trade could be built up to a volume of several billions of dollars within a few years. But he said to achieve that volume it would be necessary for the United States to grant long term credits to the Soviet Union.

Secretary of State Dulles later remarked that Khrushchev has "declared economic warfare on us . . . And now it looks as though the Soviet Union wanted to get credit from us so that it could more successfully pursue its economic warfare against us."

There was speculation the question of top-rung visits between Russian and American leaders may have arisen during an eight-hour talk between Khrushchev and Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn). The two met in Moscow on Dec. 1, and Mikoyan sat in on the talks for about an hour.

Refunds Due For Gas Users

Utility To Pay 2,000 In Upper Hancock

Some 2,200 customers of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. in the Chester-Newell area are among 48,000 Northern Panhandle gas users due a refund plus 6 per cent interest from the utility, the state Public Service Commission has announced at Charleston.

The PSC Wednesday announced an order which cut West Virginia rates of the gas company by $124,000 a year, as compared to rates the firm has had in effect the past 13 months.

A portion of the gas bills paid during the period since Nov. 11, 1957, will be involved in the refunding procedure.

For the consumption bracket of the average residential customer, the refund will amount to 2 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas. Rates authorized from now on in that bracket are only one per cent per 1,000 below those that have been in effect.

Wheeling is the largest city to be affected by the decision.

After France's Troubles With Algeria

West Germany Seen Third Military Power In NATO

PARIS (AP)—West Germany is becoming the third most important military power in the Atlantic Alliance, taking the place left vacant by France's troubles in Algeria and her disputes with her allies.

This picture emerged from the annual assessment of NATO strength. The meeting of ministers from the 15 treaty nations headed to its conclusion tonight with big gains for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany and losses for French Premier Charles de Gaulle.

Not that there was any dispute between representatives of the two leaders. Since De Gaulle became premier June 1, circumstances have made them friends seeking the same goals—at least over the short range.

But the Germans were NATO's fair-haired boys. The French had to defend their military shortcomings and failed to win the top place in Allied councils which De Gaulle seeks.

All 15 countries agreed with the military goals presented by the supreme Allied commander, U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad. But an official spokesman added that Norstad's program of 30 combat-ready divisions at full strength and of speeding up development of nuclear weapons was accepted only as an objective. This was an admission that some nations, notably France, are dragging their feet.

For several years NATO military planners have been disturbed by France's inabilty to end the Algerian rebellion and bring back to Europe the several hundred thousand troops sent to quell the nationalist uprising.

During those years the West Germans have been building a new military force. Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss said by the end of March West Germany will have a 200,000-man force in the NATO defense line.

A further indication of West Germany's emergence as the West's major continental military power was contained in the report that for the first time Germans will produce missiles. They will work with France and Italy on antiaircraft missiles which probably will be equipped eventually with nuclear warheads, informants said.

French Army Minister Pierre Guillaumant defended his country's sparse contribution to NATO defenses. He said France would do its best to fulfill its European role but it has many overseas obligations and is "holding the flank of NATO," meaning North Africa.

Dulles Bares Progress On Talks For Test Ban

PARIS (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today reported to North Atlantic Treaty Organization members that a little progress has been made in talks with the Soviet Union on suspending nuclear tests.

But, he said, it is premature to be optimistic as to ultimate success because the Soviet views on the nature of control differ sharply from the views of the Western powers.

May Be Little Better

Yule Business Is Expected To Equal That Of Last Year

NEW YORK (AP)—"Christmas business will equal last year and may be a little better. But it's not running away."

This cautiously phrased comment from M. E. Arnett, vice president of Bullock's Department Store in Los Angeles, typifies the attitude of hundreds of retailers across the country interviewed by The Associated Press in a survey of Christmas business prospects.

Most are confident of beating last year's record totals (thanks in part to slightly higher prices and an extra shopping day). But few see anything that resembles a real boom.

"There's more cash in town this year," says Charles E. Boyd of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce, "but people aren't spending the money."

Brightest spot on the 1958 Christmas retail scene is Texas.

"There's no doubt but that the buying public has the money and a disposition to spend it," declares a merchant in Fort Worth. "To say business is good is putting it mildly, for if it gets any better it will be terrific."

And an Abilene, Tex., store official states: "If it was any better I don't know what I'd do."

Christmas business is good in Denver. High on the list of wanted merchandise are such relatively costly items as stereophonic hi-fi sets, pianos, organs, outboard motors and boats.

But in Cleveland, Pittsburgh and New Orleans, merchants hope to match last year's sales but are not sure they will.

Big retailers say they've been doing as well or better than last year but they're comparing current business with a brutally tough 1957 period when traffic was snarled by a subway strike. Most say telephone and mail order business — which amounts to 15 per cent of total Christmas sales — is down sharply.

Store traffic held up fairly well in the early days of the newspaper blackout but declined as the strike entered its second week. Another strike-inspired problem: How to get rid of specially priced gift items the stores had intended to push via spectacular sales campaigns. Warehouses are bursting with merchandise of this type.

Geneva Talks On Surprise Attacks Failed

GENEVA (AP) — The 10-nation conference on prevention of surprise attacks ended today in complete failure.

The talks never got down to a serious discussion of a surprise attack alert system because East and West were in total disagreement on the very purpose of the conference.

The Soviet bloc made a vain effort at the 4½-hour final meeting to have Jan. 5—or any other date — fixed for resumption of the talks.

The Western group, led by William C. Foster of the United States, firmly told the Soviet bloc it was useless to reconvene unless an agreed basis for the discussions could be established in direct contacts between the governments concerned.

The United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada represented the North Atlantic Treaty powers; and the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Albania the East bloc.

The conference opened Nov. 10 and became bogged down from the start in procedural arguments.

The Western side submitted numerous technical proposals in the hope the Soviet bloc would agree to discuss these without bringing up political issues.

Hays-Alford Dispute May Rock House

Special Committee Votes Against Seat For Segregationist

WASHINGTON (AP — The Hays-Alford election dispute moved today toward a possibly bitter fight that could rock the House.

A special House committee voted 3-2 Wednesday to recommend that Dr. Dale Alford, Little Rock segregationist, be denied a seat pending an investigation into charges of irregularities and fraud in his election. The two no votes came from Southerners.

Alford, who testified he believed he was elected honestly, promised to push his case at once.

Alford entered the November election at virtually the last minute.

Running as a write-in candidate, he beat Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark), an avowed moderate on segregation, by about 1,200 votes.

The committee's Southerners, Chairman Clifford Davis (D-Tenn) and Robert Jones (D-Ala), agreed the election should be investigated. But they said Alford should be seated pending the outcome of the inquiry. This, they said, would be in line with past procedure.

The Southerners were outvoted by Representatives Thomas O'Neill (D-Mass), Kenneth Keating (R-NY) and David Dennison (R-Ohio).

The formal challenge to Alford's election came not from Hays but from John F. Wells, Little Rock publisher of a weekly newspaper.

Wells told the committee there were numerous irregularities in the vote. He said stickers used by the Alford write-in voters were illegal, and that there were more votes than listed voters in some instances, and that Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas and others conspired to unseat Hays.

Hays said that since he is not contesting the election, "it is the simple question of whether it was an honest election."

Hays will be honored tonight at a dinner to be attended by high government officials, church leaders and others.

FACES $100 MILLION DEFICIT. Sitting next to Gov. Williams' empty chair while he vacations in Florida, State Controller James W. Miller of Michigan announced at a press conference Wednesday that the state "simply cannot pay" all of its bills and faces a deficit of at least $100 million in June, 1959. Miller said at Lansing, Mich., there isn't enough money in sight and won't be enough until the legislature gets more cash into the treasury by some process. (UPI Telephoto)

Skidding Auto Rams Into Bus

Parked Truck Drifts Into Union St. Wall

No one was hurt when a skidding auto struck a Grandview Line bus today at 7:44 a. m. on a Jennings Ave. curve, police reported.

A 1956 sedan driven by Mrs. Mildred J. Sauerbrei, 209 Maplewood Ave., struck a bus of the Inter - City Transit Co. operated by Charles Claypool, 29, of 1127 Harker Ave., officers said.

Police said the pavement was "very icy" at the spot where the crash occurred. The southbound auto skidded on the curve and hit the north - bound bus, officers said. There was extensive damage to the left front of the car. The left front of the bus also was damaged, police said.

A pickup truck drifted away from a parking place on Union St. at 3 p. m. Wednesday and struck a stone wall at the property of Dean McShane, 308 Union St., officers said. Owned by Smith Auto Parts of E. 4th St. and Broadway, the truck apparently slipped its emergency brake and coasted down the steep grade, police said. The front bumper was damaged.

Lewis Barron, 49, of Box 411, Midland, was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his 1956 sedan struck the rear of a 1955 sedan driven by Viola Agnes Seacrist, 825 Chester Ave., about 6:05 p.m.

$343,750 Seen Share On Road For Wellsville

City Delegation Told By Engineer Project To Cost $4½ Million

Wellsville's share of the cost of relocating Route 7 through the city probably will exceed $343,750, officials learned at a meeting Wednesday afternoon with W. E. Quicksall, Highway Department Division 11 engineer, at New Philadelphia.

Fifteen from Wellsville attended the session when Quicksall outlined preliminary plans for the estimated $4½-million project.

The city's share will be based on 5 per cent of the project. However, the officials were told that the figures presented them are just estimates and that when a more exhaustive study is made of the relocation it will bring to light more items which are expected to increase the final cost.

The relocation will follow Buckeye Ave. and will join the recently completed Yellow Creek-Wellsville super - road and the East Liverpool - Wellsville super-road.

The relocation is necessary as the existing route through town is congested, the pavement too narrow and it will provide more adequate traffic flow, Quicksall told the group.

Plans call for the relocation, grading, draining, and paving of a four - lane limited access road with one full and two partial interchanges. One of the interchanges will be near Route 39 and another at Route 45. The other is expected near 25th St. where the Yellow Creek project starts.

A breakdown of the estimates follows:

$1,300,000, roadway; $700,000, pavement; $1,000,000, structures over 20-feet; $1,000,000, right-of-way; $225,000, detours and incidentals, and $150,000, construction and engineering.

The city's share of these items is $218,750 but $125,000 for the preliminary engineering raises the cost to the estimated $343,750.

The estimates are based on figures from the preliminary survey of the route made by Good, Kind & O'Day, consulting engineers.

Quicksall said the estimates are expected to be low, but they are the best available at the time.

The project will be included in the next biennium appropriation for 1959-1961. Division 11 has $60

Stanton Board Will Resubmit School Bonds

The Stanton Board of Education has passed a resolution to resubmit a $498,000 bond issue to voters next spring for a new consolidated school at Empire and installation of inside toilets at the Hammondsville School.

The proposal was defeated twice in 1958 but the Board unanimously agreed at a special session to submit the proposal again early in 1959 due to "the critical situation facing the school district and the urgency of the new building."

Date for the special election has been set tentatively for June 2. The levy for the bond issue, as submitted to the board by Stephen J. Hamrock, Jefferson County auditor, will be 2.4 mills.

This is a reduction from the 5.1-mill rate proposed in the previous issue.

The decrease is due to the recent boost of the valuation of the Stanton district with construction of the Ohio Edison Co. plant, a $75 million project, at Stratton.

The proposal calls for a 10-room consolidated school in Empire which will cost approximately $480,000. The remaining $18,000 will be used for installing inside toilets in the Hammondsville building—the only school in Stanton without such facilities.

In a special election in July, a $480,000 issue was defeated, 515-409. It was increased to $498,000 to provide funds for the inside toilets but the proposal was again defeated in the Nov. 4 general election by a vote of 713-629.

Record Income Seen, Buying Power Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the dollar income of Americans will set a record in 1958, real income in terms of buying power has declined from 1957 because of inflation.

The Commerce Department said personal income for the full year will exceed 353 billion dollars, up more than five billions from 1957.

Chester Sets Sewer Rate To Finance Plant

Charge To Be 110% Of Water Bill For $350,000 Project

Legislation establishing a sewer rate schedule in Chester to implement construction of a proposed $350,000 sewage disposal plant, was ordered by Chester Council at a meeting Wednesday night.

In a 4-1 vote, Council authorized preparation of an ordinance for a rate of 110 per cent of the water bills paid by city residents.

The schedule was proposed by the Chester Sanitary Board, which includes John Pinney, J. A. Bower and Dale K. Allison, who discussed the rates with Council last night.

Following Council's move to initiate the legislation, Allison submitted his resignation from the board. He declined to give a reason.

Board members advised Council the rate schedule and plans for collection were required by the city to enable the board to make application for federal aid for the project in January.

Board members said after an extensive study, they agree it would be necessary to charge a fee equivalent to 110 per cent of the water bills to raise an annual $32,000 payment for the project. There are 1,146 water customers in Chester.

The estimates were based on a predicted cost of $350,000 for the plant and system made five years ago by A. R. Todd, Wheeling engineer.

Board members indicated they had attempted to set a fair sewage rate and pointed out it could be reduced later if warranted.

Councilman James Waggle made the motion that City Solicitor William Conklin be instructed to prepare the ordinance for sewer rates recommended by the board. Councilman John Olash seconded the motion. They and Councilmen John Abrams and Walter McSwegin supported the motion. Councilman Charles Kology, in the discussion with the board, said he believes the rate is "too high." He said the community of Oak Hill, W. Va., with a population larger than Chester, has a 60 per cent sewer rate.

Following the final vote on the

Soviet Aide Would Like Spring Visit

State Department Declines Comment On Red Approach

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility of high level Soviet-American policy talks here opened up today with a report that Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan would like to visit Washington early next year.

Mikoyan is in the inner circle of Kremlin leadership close to Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The State Department has declined comment but the Soviet government was understood to have approached the U.S. embassy in Moscow about arranging the trip.

Mikoyan's immediate purpose would be to visit Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov. It would be his second visit to this country. His first was in 1936 as head of an industrial survey group.

The United States, some informants said, has not yet made a decision. But indications were that it would agree to the suggestion.

President Eisenhower proposed last February that leading Soviet personalities should come to this country and rid themselves by first hand observation of false conceptions which Eisenhower said they have about the United States.

Presumably if he came here, the 63-year-old Mikoyan would be prepared to discuss a wide range of outstanding disagreements and tensions.

But the belief here is that his main interest would be to promote greater trade.

In a letter to Eisenhower June 2, Khrushchev said such trade could be built up to a volume of several billions of dollars within a few years. But he said to achieve that volume it would be necessary for the United States to grant long term credits to the Soviet Union.

Secretary of State Dulles later remarked that Khrushchev has "declared economic warfare on us . . . And now it looks as though the Soviet Union wanted to get credit from us so that it could more successfully pursue its economic warfare against us."

There was speculation the question of top-rung visits between Russian and American leaders may have arisen during an eight-hour talk between Khrushchev and Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn). The two met in Moscow on Dec. 1, and Mikoyan sat in on the talks for about an hour.

Refunds Due For Gas Users

Utility To Pay 2,000 In Upper Hancock

Some 2,200 customers of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. in the Chester-Newell area are among 48,000 Northern Panhandle gas users due a refund plus 6 per cent interest from the utility, the state Public Service Commission has announced at Charleston.

The PSC Wednesday announced an order which cut West Virginia rates of the gas company by $124,000 a year, as compared to rates the firm has had in effect the past 13 months.

A portion of the gas bills paid during the period since Nov. 11, 1957, will be involved in the refunding procedure.

For the consumption bracket of the average residential customer, the refund will amount to 2 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas. Rates authorized from now on in that bracket are only one per cent per 1,000 below those that have been in effect.

Wheeling is the largest city to be affected by the decision.

AT&T Stock Split Rockets Wall Street Buying Orders

NEW YORK (AP)—A newsboy from Port Chester, N.Y., an Oklahoma Indian princess and a University of California professor have one thing in common today — a sizable paper profit on their stock in American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Directors of the world's biggest public utility recommended a 3-for-1 stock split and a 10 per cent hike in the dividend Wednesday. It's the first stock split in company history and the first dividend change in 37 years.

Company directors said the split would strengthen the position of the company in obtaining large amounts of equity capital needed for expansion. They expect the split will widen the market for the stock.

The proposal sent AT&T stock skyrocketing on the New York Stock Exchange. An avalanche of buying orders forced suspension of trading. When trading resumed 1½ hours later, the stock was up $23 at $225, breaking a 27-year high. It closed at $223, up $21 on the day, on a volume of 110,200 shares.

AT&T closed at $223.75, up $23.75 on the Pacific Coast Exchange.

What does this mean to the newsboy, the Indian princess or the college professor? They probably won't take down their paper profits by selling. They've held their AT&T stock five years or more.

They are part of AT&T's 1,625,800 shareowners. This is the biggest corporate family in the world, greater than the combined total of owners in the three next biggest concerns: General Motors Corp., Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) and General Electric Co.

These three are among the 812,900 little investors who have held 15 shares or less of AT&T stock for five years or more.

If one of the trio, for instance, had purchased 10 shares at the 1954 low of $156 a share, it would have cost him $1,560, plus broker fees. In five years, he would have collected $450 in dividends.

On 10 shares he could have collected $2,230, less broker fees, at Wednesday night's New York closing price. That's a capital gain in five years of $670.

He probably wouldn't sell though. Because if he and the other stockholders approve the proposed stock-split at the next annual meeting on April 15, his 10 shares will become 30. And his dividends would increase from $90 a year on 10 shares to $99 a year on 30 shares.

Moonshine Turns Up In 3 Ohio Communities

CLEVELAND (AP)—Moonshine whisky and the machinery which produces it turned up in three northeastern Ohio communities Wednesday.

Thomas Greer of Cleveland was released on $1,000 bond by U. S. Commissioner H. A. Horn. Greer was arrested when liquor agents raided a 50-gallon still operating in his second-story apartment.

In Trumbull County, police arrested two men when 18 half-gallon jars of illegal whisky were found in the trunk of a car. The men were held at Warren. Deputies said charges of illegal possession of whisky will be filed.

And in Kent, police and liquor agents are looking for the owner of a shack which burned Wednesday. Firemen discovered a 30-gallon still in the structure.

But Joseph Wolhandler, Miss Monroe's press representative, said she is extremely upset over the loss of the infant. He said the actress' doctors determined she had lost her baby early this week.

Miss Monroe was five or six weeks pregnant when she lost her first baby Aug. 1, 1957.

Mayor Enters Paper Strike In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner and three national and city mediation officials meet today to discuss the nine-day-old strike against nine city newspapers.

Peace talks broke down completely Wednesday. Group representing publishers and the striking Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union failed to agree on a resumption of negotiations as they met with federal mediators.

Presses at the nine papers have been still since shortly after the strike of deliverymen began Dec. 9 over wages and other contract issues.

The newspaper industry is losing an estimated 1½ million dollars a day in advertising and circulation revenues and in suspended wages of nearly 20,000 nonstriking but idle employes.

In a separate action, the New York Board of Trade called on President Eisenhower, Gov. Averell Harriman, Gov.-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller and Wagner to intervene.

At Wednesday's brief joint meeting, the publishers held firm on their offer of a two-year, $7-a-week wage package.

The deliverers' membership turned down this offer when the strike began. Union negotiators agreed Tuesday to resubmit the offer, but were overruled in a membership meeting.

Present deliverers wage is $103.82 a week.

The New York Yankees will play five night baseball games in Detroit next season.

AT&T Stock Split Rockets Wall Street Buying Orders

NEW YORK (AP)—A newsboy from Port Chester, N.Y., an Oklahoma Indian princess and a University of California professor have one thing in common today — a sizable paper profit on their stock in American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Directors of the world's biggest public utility recommended a 3-for-1 stock split and a 10 per cent hike in the dividend Wednesday. It's the first stock split in company history and the first dividend change in 37 years.

Company directors said the split would strengthen the position of the company in obtaining large amounts of equity capital needed for expansion. They expect the split will widen the market for the stock.

The proposal sent AT&T stock skyrocketing on the New York Stock Exchange. An avalanche of buying orders forced suspension of trading. When trading resumed 1½ hours later, the stock was up $23 at $225, breaking a 27-year high. It closed at $223, up $21 on the day, on a volume of 110,200 shares.

AT&T closed at $223.75, up $23.75 on the Pacific Coast Exchange.

What does this mean to the newsboy, the Indian princess or the college professor? They probably won't take down their paper profits by selling. They've held their AT&T stock five years or more.

They are part of AT&T's 1,625,800 shareowners. This is the biggest corporate family in the world, greater than the combined total of owners in the three next biggest concerns: General Motors Corp., Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) and General Electric Co.

These three are among the 812,900 little investors who have held 15 shares or less of AT&T stock for five years or more.

If one of the trio, for instance, had purchased 10 shares at the 1954 low of $156 a share, it would have cost him $1,560, plus broker fees. In five years, he would have collected $450 in dividends.

On 10 shares he could have collected $2,230, less broker fees, at Wednesday night's New York closing price. That's a capital gain in five years of $670.

He probably wouldn't sell though. Because if he and the other stockholders approve the proposed stock-split at the next annual meeting on April 15, his 10 shares will become 30. And his dividends would increase from $90 a year on 10 shares to $99 a year on 30 shares.

Moonshine Turns Up In 3 Ohio Communities

CLEVELAND (AP)—Moonshine whisky and the machinery which produces it turned up in three northeastern Ohio communities Wednesday.

Thomas Greer of Cleveland was released on $1,000 bond by U. S. Commissioner H. A. Horn. Greer was arrested when liquor agents raided a 50-gallon still operating in his second-story apartment.

In Trumbull County, police arrested two men when 18 half-gallon jars of illegal whisky were found in the trunk of a car. The men were held at Warren. Deputies said charges of illegal possession of whisky will be filed.

And in Kent, police and liquor agents are looking for the owner of a shack which burned Wednesday. Firemen discovered a 30-gallon still in the structure.

Marilyn Monroe Loses Second Unborn Child

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Marilyn Monroe has lost her second unborn child in 16 months. The miscarriage was confirmed Wednesday night.

The 32-year-old blonde film star was reported recovering at her home here with her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, at her side.

But Joseph Wolhandler, Miss Monroe's press representative, said she is extremely upset over the loss of the infant. He said the actress' doctors determined she had lost her baby early this week.

Miss Monroe was five or six weeks pregnant when she lost her first baby Aug. 1, 1957.

2 Killed, 5 Injured In Virginia Collision

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Two persons were killed and five others hospitalized Wednesday night when a Winchester volunteer rescue vehicle collided with a 1959 automobile about one mile north of here.

State Trooper J. H. Smith Jr. said the car was turning off U.S. 522 onto a motel driveway when it was struck broadside by the rescue vehicle.

Killed were Harold G. Van Fossen, 62, of Youngstown, Ohio and Vance Whitaker, about 50, of Winchester. Van Fossen was a passenger in the car driven by his wife, Mrs. E. Van Fossen, 52.

Whitaker was driving a station wagon used as an ambulance by the rescue squad.

Mayor Enters Paper Strike In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner and three national and city mediation officials meet today to discuss the nine-day-old strike against nine city newspapers.

Peace talks broke down completely Wednesday. Group representing publishers and the striking Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union failed to agree on a resumption of negotiations as they met with federal mediators.

Presses at the nine papers have been still since shortly after the strike of deliverymen began Dec. 9 over wages and other contract issues.

The newspaper industry is losing an estimated 1½ million dollars a day in advertising and circulation revenues and in suspended wages of nearly 20,000 nonstriking but idle employes.

In a separate action, the New York Board of Trade called on President Eisenhower, Gov. Averell Harriman, Gov.-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller and Wagner to intervene.

At Wednesday's brief joint meeting, the publishers held firm on their offer of a two-year, $7-a-week wage package.

The deliverers' membership turned down this offer when the strike began. Union negotiators agreed Tuesday to resubmit the offer, but were overruled in a membership meeting.

Present deliverers wage is $103.82 a week.

The Science Of Governing

The science of governing, also described as an art, is called politics, though many Americans profess to despise all politics under the illusion it has only the bad name given to it by a certain kind of politician.

It is the good name of politics that is going to be important next year in one of the trickiest transactions ever attempted — the sale of some 80 billion dollars' worth of government securities.

Unless the right kind of political leadership can create enough confidence in the security of dollars to make investors help the U.S. Treasury carry out this tremendous job of refinancing the public debt, the creeping inflation everybody has been talking about will turn into galloping inflation—and there will be nothing more to talk about.

The refinancing needed in 1959 will be about the same as the total budget for the fiscal year running from next June 30 to July 1, 1960. It will represent about one fourth of the national debt.

What does politics have to do with it?

Simply this: Confidence.

Investors either will have confidence in the ability of political leadership to maintain the value of the currency by balancing government outgo with government income, or they will refuse to invest in government securities.

When the federal government's credit is impaired, it must raise money by selling securities to the Federal Reserve system, which money experts know would be a powerful engine of inflation.

The dispute over the federal budget is frequently carried on in the abstract, as if it were six of one and a half dozen of the other whether outgo and income were balanced or not. But there is nothing abstract about the public debt that taxpayers are carrying or the large-scale refinancing that comes due in 1959.

It is the most down-to-earth transaction any government ever attempted, and everything depends on the impression political leadership makes during the next year.

If investors ever get the idea that the men who hold political power have quit trying to balance the budget, or are not astute enough to handle it as a prime responsibility of the science of governing, the runaway inflation nobody wants will be what everybody must live with for better or for worse.

Instead of scoffing at bad politicians, Americans should pray for enough good ones to sell more than 80 billion dollars' worth of confidence in the stability of U.S. dollars during 1959.

If Only For The Sake Of Vicunas

The first time around, the story of the Italian tailor who wanted to give President Eisenhower a vicuna overcoat, along with some other haberdashery, was funny.

It would have been funny if a visiting ambassador of good will had tried to give Harry Truman a "deep freeze" at the low point of his administration's falling prestige.

But as time wears on, it isn't funny any more that the fair name of the vicuna must remain in bad odor because a hungry little band of political hatchetmen fell upon Sherman Adams and ripped his vicuna overcoat to shreds.

The vicuna does not vote in U.S. elections, or in any elections. He has no voice in public affairs. But he has certain inalienable and inviolable rights that are being kicked around by rabbity pussy-footers who are so hypersensitive to criticism they are being ridiculous.

If an Italian tailor wants to give the president of the United States a vicuna overcoat, let him carry out his mission. It isn't his fault that the time had come for a politician from New Hampshire to be discredited and banned from the White House — and that a vicuna overcoat figured in the job.

The whole incident has been silly enough as an event inside the family without dragging in the neighbors to show them the seamy side of U.S. politics, too. If only for the sake of vicunas — wherever they are — let the Italian tailor give Eisenhower the overcoat and go home to Italy while he still has some illusions left about the land of liberty.

When Experts Weigh The Evidence

From now until year-end and for some few weeks after, the experts will be deep in calculations of the past, present and future—business-wise.

They are weighing the evidence as it comes to hand by reports, surmises, forebodings and thumb-sucking. They expect to conclude that on the whole there are more rays of sunshine in the black night of despair than they were able to find a year ago when the rising tide of unemployment was running a dead heat with the ebbing tide of production. Since then, things have been looking better .

At the very worst, they have been looking less bad. There has been a slowdown in the slowdown, or to turn it the other way around the pickup in the slowdown hasn't been as rapid as it was when politicians were yelling a year ago to run for the hills because it looked like a long dry spell ahead and the dam was going to burst.

There has been a recession in the recession, which is the same thing as an ascent in the descent. Things are not, of course, as good as they are going to be when they get good, but they are not as bad as they were when they were bad. Unemployment is not falling off as rapidly as employment is picking up, but that — as many other things—must be blamed on seasonal factors, which is to blame for all things not blameable on unseasonable factors, such as no snow before Christmas, which this year has overdone it so that too much snow is as unseasonable as no snow at all.

Or to put it in two-syllable words, there has been a decrease in the increase of the downturn. The pickup is, to put it mildly, more than a tossup at long last, which experts construe to be a point somewhere between the beginning of the first and the end of the fourth quarter of 1959.

Deadly December

The holiday season too often is marred by highway tragedy, stemming from bad weather conditions, long hours of darkness and the carelessness which seems to go with the excitement and bustle of the month.

In 1957 almost a third of the total road fatalities in Columbiana County occurred during December — 9 out of the 28 dead. A city pedestrian was fatally injured on Christmas day.

So far this month, only one person has been killed. But police and highway officials well know all the deadly factors still are pressing together to maintain one of December's worst traditions.

It will take the cooperation of every motorist and pedestrian to make sure we all have a merry Christmas and happy New Year.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Much advice is being given on how to choose a puppy as a Christmas gift, with emphasis on careful observation of eyes, legs, ears and general attitude. Okay, but pooches need some advice on choosing an owner. So here goes for puppies everywhere:

1. Look closely at buyer's eyes, if he is a man. If they are clear and bright it indicates he likes dogs and means to take good care of you but will often battle with wife over her turn to take you out when you "gotta go."

If eyes are dull and misty it indicates he has lost many such arguments. You'll be slow getting your airings even if issue doesn't go to federal mediation.

2. Observe his demeanor. Good or bad, he will try to teach you to sit up and beg, fetch slippers and carry a newspaper. This can be pretty annoying but there is no escape.

3. Note whether he acts friendly. Even if he does so, remember you haven't seen him try to housebreak a puppy yet.

4. Note his mouth. Does the jaw protrude? This indicates plenty of arguments with his wife over her determination to let you sleep at the foot of the bed. If his wife is with him, note her mouth and jaw. It may indicate she will win all such disputes.

5. If the buyer is a woman study her carefully. If she gushes over you and makes with dog-talk, excuse it. But it may be taken as a sign she will overfeed you, tie ribbons around your neck and pick a silly name.

If she doesn't gush it indicates she prefers a cat or is choosing you to send to Aunt Minnie's little boy, Oswald, for Christmas. (Play sick or dead immediately.

This kid is getting a load of guns, guided missiles, rockets, etc., for Christmas and may try to put you in the nose cone.)

Q. DID BROADWAY show tickets ever sell as low as $2? B.N.

A. Back around 1917 most shows were a $2 top. Some hit-musicals went to $3, but in places like the Winter Garden, dropped back to $2.50. Arthur Hopkins had a $2 top on weekends but $1 to $1.50 for other nights. It was the era of Gray's Drugstore in Times Square where thousands swarmed nightly for cut-rate tickets.

Atlantic & Pacific supermarket stock is now open to public and Ima Dodo complains because she can't get it cheaper at a rival market. First A & P store was a hole in the wall in downtown New York and opened in 1859. It handled mainly tea, coffee and spices.

John Foster Dulles should be a Man of the Year if there is an award for high courage. From a hospital bed to Paris powwow calls for valor.

Did you know blacksmith is not a vanished American and that those in the business of shoeing horses make more than back in hoss-and-buggy days? Blacksmiths can make $20,000 a year today, and boys go to college to learn trade. Michigan State and Cornell are among schools having blacksmith courses, says the Wall Street Journal.

Washington has issued a public warning to beware of fake French perfume peddlers. This is one of the oldest rackets and we thought it was exposed years ago.

Q. Is it a violation of Christmas to spell it "Xmas"? I've heard so for years. Mrs. V.B.N.

A. Editor of a religious publication says it is proper. In ancient Greek the initial letter of "Christ" looks like "X," and early Christians used "X" as symbol at times, he states.

No place has yet been found on earth where rain or snow does not fall. The driest spot in the world is Arica, Chile, with an average annual rainfall of only 0.02 inch. During 17 years of recording, there were only three measurable showers.

A Dreaded Companion

Tighter Deportation Law Needed

By Victor Riesel

Hand me my party card. At least one Mafia chief says the newspapers in the United States are Communist troublemakers digging up all that nonsense about an invisible government and things underworld. This sage sociological analysis comes from none other than Joe Profaci, dean of the Mafia grand council and veteran of its clandestine clambakes since the early '20s.

Victor Riesel

Profaci made this observation while discussing newspaper charges that the famed Apalachin cook out was a national crime convention. All this is of interest at this minute because the Dept. of Justice has just succeeded in denaturalizing the dean.

It took almost two years to get this far. It will take years more to win a deportation order—and there you have the lead to a story which should make the congressmen's faces as red as Profaci's opinion of our journals.

For, all through the last session of Congress there was a simple bill in the hopper which could have been used to cut deeply into the labor rackets—if it had become law.

THE BILL, known as S-345, would have wiped out the power of the mob to use ancient legalism simply as a stalling tactic in deportation cases. Few paid any attention to the bill despite the Justice Department's efforts to rush it through.

So, it takes up to five or more years to move against the men who really are the powers in the labor rackets.

Joe Profaci is typical. Almost two years ago, the Immigration and Naturalization Service started proceedings against him. Profaci viewed the case with justified disdain. He knew it would take years. It has.

Yet Joe Profaci is the symbol of what has so aroused the nation since the exposures of the corrosion and corruption inside some captive unions.

Not too long ago, for example, the record shows that when Profaci was questioned he had on him "a number of cards of various union officials throughout the eastern part of the U.S."

One of Robert Kennedy's investigators learned that these were the personal cards of officials in seven locals in three international unions stretching from New York to Chicago.

WHEN KENNEDY had Profaci on the McClellan committee witness stand and asked the significance of these contacts, Profaci said it would incriminate him if he answered.

You would lose no currency by wagering that Mr. P. has contacts beyond these mentioned—but three international unions make a significant combine just by themselves.

If Profaci had been deported earlier, his influence in these outfits would have been severed. At least a minor skirmish in this vast battle would have been won.

There is the case of Profaci's colleague and fellow crime convention delegate, Vito Genovese, a gourmet who can cater to his own tastes, for he is rated by the boys to have some 30 million dollars. Maybe it's less. But it's a lot, no matter how you count what he has made out of his invisible occupation.

Years ago Immigration agents started to move against Genovese. Finally on Sept. 1, 1955, the Justice Department was able to denaturalize him.

Now, more than three years later, after many legal moves, Genovese still is free—if that's what you can call it.

HE IS IN NEW YORK Federal Court being tried on a serious narcotics conspiracy charge. It will be several more years before he can be deported, whether or not he is convicted on the current rap.

Genovese, like Profaci, just rolls on and on with his appeals. Genovese, like Profaci, has far-flung contacts in some international unions.

Literally, there are hundreds of others with similar contacts. They are deportable. If they were dispatched abroad, their influence in American labor circles would be cut. Sure there would be newcomers, but not with the power of the old black guard.

Yet, red tape has so snagged the Justice Department's powers that only 12 men of Profaci's stature (including Murder Inc.'s Joe Adonis) have been deported since July 7, 1954. If S-345 had become law, we'd have had more law and order.

If Cabinet members and leaders of the two big parties can't get together on one big anti-racket law, let's at least have a little one just to tide us over the criminal tidal wave.

Ike's In The Middle

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Republicans are rubbing their aching heads. President Eisenhower probably is too. He's in the middle. What he seems to want is peace and harmony among Senate Republicans. He's getting the opposite.

A band of 10 rebellious Republican senators have teamed up to muscle aside the conservative Republicans who have been running their show. A fight looks certain Jan. 7, when Congress returns. The rebels may be outnumbered. In all, there will be 34 GOP senators in the next Congress.

Sen. George Aiken of Vermont, 66 and no political chicken since he's been in the Senate 18 years, is leader of the rebels. They don't call themselves liberals. They indicate they think they represent the wave of the future.

They point to the November elections — which took a heavy toll of Republican conservatives—as proof the voters are fed up with conservative Republicanism.

For years the Senate Republican leadership has been in the hands of conservatives like senators Robert Taft of Ohio, William Knowland of California and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

When Taft died five years ago, Knowland succeeded him as Republican floor leader. Knowland was defeated this year when he quit the Senate to run for the governorship of Califrnia.

But the 60-year-old Bridges, even more of a veteran than Aiken with 22 years in the Senate, is still very much a powerhouse. He's chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Bridges and Knowland have differed a number of times with Eisenhower on foreign policy. But the rebels are not only trying to unseat Bridges as policy chairman and put one of their own number in his place. They're also shooting at Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois.

Dirksen, a Taft Republican and with a generally conservative record, wants to succeed Knowland as Republican floor leader, and he says he'll fight to get the job.

There's a little irony in this. Members of the Aiken group claim to be Eisenhower supporters. But Dirksen describes himself as a down-the-line Eisenhower supporter.

In recent years Dirksen has supported much of the President's foreign policy. Protesting against what the rebels want to do to him, he says "I have carried the flag" for Eisenhower "when the legislative going was rough."

Bridges, apparently very unhappy over this whole business, went to see Eisenhower Wednesday. He indicated the President had initiated the meeting. It's hard to see why, judging from what Bridges said.

He said Eisenhower "just listened" and doesn't want to take sides. There is something else hard to see too: If Eisenhower isn't taking sides, why didn't he see any of the Aiken group?

Aiken has said: "We haven't heard a peep from the White House but we would welcome some encouragement from there."

Dirksen was at the White House Wednesday, but on other business. Later he said he and Eisenhower didn't discuss the leadership fight.

Surprise For 1960?

By David Lawrence

GOP, Democrats May Split Into 4 Parties

Four political parties, instead of just two, may be in the field in the 1960 presidential campaign. It seems likely that there will be a bolt not only from the Democratic party but also from the Republican party.

David Lawrence

The so-called "liberals" are threatening to drive the conservatives out of the Democratic party. Likewise, this week the first signs are manifest that those Republicans in Congress who like to call themselves "liberal," in imitation of their Democratic party brethren, are about to split the Republican party.

If the only function the Republican party is to serve hereafter is to be an imitation of the northern "liberal" faction of the Democratic party, then millions of conservative Republicans will be found ready to join a new party.

The controversy which has just started over the selection of a leader of the Republicans in the Senate can have far-reaching consequences.

If it means that the Republican party is no longer to be a conservative institution but merely a copy of the Democratic party in the North, then there will be no channel for the expression of conservative doctrines under the regular Republican auspices.

THE SITUATION in the Democratic party is much further developed toward a dissolution. Almost every political visitor who comes to Washington from the Southland concedes that there is trouble brewing.

The story seems to be that the regularly nominated and elected Democrats in Congress will take no active part in the bolt but will attend the next national convention as Democratic party delegates.

Among the rank and file, on the other hand, there is already much discussion about "write-in" votes and the placing of the names of independent electors on the presidential ballot.

The Southern conservatives would like nothing better than to have a chance to join with Northern conservatives in forming a new political party in America.

Such a union, however, seems for the present out of the question so long as the Republicans insist on a federalized system of government which deprives the states of their right to control their own public schools and education processes.

If the Republican party concept of the "civil rights" issue is to remain the same as that of the Northern Democrats, then there is little chance for a national coalition of conservatives to be formed.

The outlook, therefore, would seem to be for a break-up of the two major political parties into four blocs for an indefinite period. Temporary alliances may ensue on specific issues in Congress, but, in a presidential race, it is conceivable that many states would vote for independent electors.

THERE IS ALWAYS the chance, under such circumstances, that a presidential election might be thrown into the House of Representatives for decision, as the Constitution provides when no candidate gets a majority of the electoral votes.

The unanswered question is not merely the extent of the defection in the ranks of the Republican party in the Northern states but the size of the dissident vote inside the Democratic party in all parts of the country.

If "non-integration" of the public schools were in some way, for instance, implied as an issue by a candidate espousing the cause of states' rights vs. federal encroachment, there probably would be a surprising number of persons in the North and West voting for such a ticket who previously had labeled themselves as Democrats.

Often, when the choice is between the "lesser of two evils," the voter doesn't have a chance to indicate his adherence to the particular political philosophy that he likes.

That's why a four-way split may prove the surprise of the century to those politicians who have convinced themselves lately that they can force both the Republican and Democratic parties into the realm of radicalism or "modernism" without the risk of bringing down the roof in both instances.

WHAT HAS LED to the confused picture is the erroneous interpretation given generally to the sweeping victory won in the name of the Democratic party in the recent congressional elections.

This has been mistakenly construed as a triumph for "liberalism."

Short-sighted Republicans have been persuaded rather easily that radicalism and "modernism" won, when, as a matter of fact, many of the Democratic candidates who were victorious last month are busy today explaining how really non-radical they are and how they do not favor unlimited spending.

Inside the Democratic party the drive is on just the same to curb the power of the Southern leadership of various committees in Congress — also in the name of "liberalism."

The net result is to increase the opportunity for a deeper cleavage inside the Democratic party.

Maybe all parties a few years hence will be looking for an American De Gaulle to rescue them from the debacle of splintered parties.

"Remember to wink at a homely girl for my sake," was to become one of the late H. L. Mencken's quotable remarks.

What H. L. was driving at was the neglect of homely girls, who stand in as much need of attention as the beautiful ones.

It was a warm-hearted thing for the hard-boiled sage of Baltimore to think of, even though it missed the mark a little, as Harry Golden pointed out in his essay on it in "Only in America."

Golden says anyone who knows the score can testify to as the truth that homely girls do a little better than can be expected, because there are, in effect, no girls so homely they cannot conceal their handicap with charm—and homely girls never miss a trick.

But it is not the truth of the Menckenese point of view on giving a boost to the morale of homely girls that is involved here so much as the Menckenese point of view on remembering the neglected.

"Remember each Christmas to give the man of the house a hook-and-ladder truck for his lost youth's sake." Here is the same theme but a different sermon.

The most neglected character on the premises, come Christmas, is the adult male, who is supposed to exult about his pretty socks, neckties, sweaters, shirts, pajamas, gloves etc. that he would have bought for himself if he had thought he needed them.

He puts up a brave front, gravy stains and all, but underneath his ticker is aching for the gee-gaws, gimcracks and hoot-nannies he wants and never gets at Christmas.

Everybody else gets that stuff—the impractical, foolish, funny, silly, inconsequential clutter that makes the difference between Merry Christmas and a clearance sale of staple items. Especially the kids. And more especially the boy kids, which is what the grown male is at heart.

He gets fed to his teeth with useful stuff for Christmas. What he wants is something he can enjoy — a popgun, a rattle decorated with silhouettes of bosomy babes, or a construction set so he can build a model of a guillotine.

Or a steam engine, a motorcycle, a scooter, a hook-and-ladder truck, or a red wagon. Or a walkie-talkie, a wood-burning set, a dingus that makes enough noise to wake the dead, or a do-it-yourself kit to become a parlor magician and amaze his friends.

Or a silly game he can play with no skill and no brains, a chemistry set to blow up the house, a hobby horse, a cowboy suit, a new football, or a first-baseman's mitt.

Otherwise, the useful stuff he will get will bring a smile to his face and an ache to his heart. If by chance someone else does get the things he wants, he will move in under them and preempt their treasures, causing hurt feelings.

Give the man around the house something foolish to hold his attention and gladden his spirits this Christmas. He will use all the useful stuff he will get, but give the old kid something to enjoy. He deserves it.

The Science Of Governing

The science of governing, also described as an art, is called politics, though many Americans profess to despise all politics under the illusion it has only the bad name given to it by a certain kind of politician.

It is the good name of politics that is going to be important next year in one of the trickiest transactions ever attempted — the sale of some 80 billion dollars' worth of government securities.

Unless the right kind of political leadership can create enough confidence in the security of dollars to make investors help the U.S. Treasury carry out this tremendous job of refinancing the public debt, the creeping inflation everybody has been talking about will turn into galloping inflation—and there will be nothing more to talk about.

The refinancing needed in 1959 will be about the same as the total budget for the fiscal year running from next June 30 to July 1, 1960. It will represent about one fourth of the national debt.

What does politics have to do with it?

Simply this: Confidence.

Investors either will have confidence in the ability of political leadership to maintain the value of the currency by balancing government outgo with government income, or they will refuse to invest in government securities.

When the federal government's credit is impaired, it must raise money by selling securities to the Federal Reserve system, which money experts know would be a powerful engine of inflation.

The dispute over the federal budget is frequently carried on in the abstract, as if it were six of one and a half dozen of the other whether outgo and income were balanced or not. But there is nothing abstract about the public debt that taxpayers are carrying or the large-scale refinancing that comes due in 1959.

It is the most down-to-earth transaction any government ever attempted, and everything depends on the impression political leadership makes during the next year.

If investors ever get the idea that the men who hold political power have quit trying to balance the budget, or are not astute enough to handle it as a prime responsibility of the science of governing, the runaway inflation nobody wants will be what everybody must live with for better or for worse.

Instead of scoffing at bad politicians, Americans should pray for enough good ones to sell more than 80 billion dollars' worth of confidence in the stability of U.S. dollars during 1959.

If Only For The Sake Of Vicunas

The first time around, the story of the Italian tailor who wanted to give President Eisenhower a vicuna overcoat, along with some other haberdashery, was funny.

It would have been funny if a visiting ambassador of good will had tried to give Harry Truman a "deep freeze" at the low point of his administration's falling prestige.

But as time wears on, it isn't funny any more that the fair name of the vicuna must remain in bad odor because a hungry little band of political hatchetmen fell upon Sherman Adams and ripped his vicuna overcoat to shreds.

The vicuna does not vote in U.S. elections, or in any elections. He has no voice in public affairs. But he has certain inalienable and inviolable rights that are being kicked around by rabbity pussy-footers who are so hypersensitive to criticism they are being ridiculous.

If an Italian tailor wants to give the president of the United States a vicuna overcoat, let him carry out his mission. It isn't his fault that the time had come for a politician from New Hampshire to be discredited and banned from the White House — and that a vicuna overcoat figured in the job.

The whole incident has been silly enough as an event inside the family without dragging in the neighbors to show them the seamy side of U.S. politics, too. If only for the sake of vicunas — wherever they are — let the Italian tailor give Eisenhower the overcoat and go home to Italy while he still has some illusions left about the land of liberty.

When Experts Weigh The Evidence

From now until year-end and for some few weeks after, the experts will be deep in calculations of the past, present and future—business-wise.

They are weighing the evidence as it comes to hand by reports, surmises, forebodings and thumb-sucking. They expect to conclude that on the whole there are more rays of sunshine in the black night of despair than they were able to find a year ago when the rising tide of unemployment was running a dead heat with the ebbing tide of production. Since then, things have been looking better .

At the very worst, they have been looking less bad. There has been a slowdown in the slowdown, or to turn it the other way around the pickup in the slowdown hasn't been as rapid as it was when politicians were yelling a year ago to run for the hills because it looked like a long dry spell ahead and the dam was going to burst.

There has been a recession in the recession, which is the same thing as an ascent in the descent. Things are not, of course, as good as they are going to be when they get good, but they are not as bad as they were when they were bad. Unemployment is not falling off as rapidly as employment is picking up, but that — as many other things—must be blamed on seasonal factors, which is to blame for all things not blameable on unseasonable factors, such as no snow before Christmas, which this year has overdone it so that too much snow is as unseasonable as no snow at all.

Or to put it in two-syllable words, there has been a decrease in the increase of the downturn. The pickup is, to put it mildly, more than a tossup at long last, which experts construe to be a point somewhere between the beginning of the first and the end of the fourth quarter of 1959.

Deadly December

The holiday season too often is marred by highway tragedy, stemming from bad weather conditions, long hours of darkness and the carelessness which seems to go with the excitement and bustle of the month.

In 1957 almost a third of the total road fatalities in Columbiana County occurred during December — 9 out of the 28 dead. A city pedestrian was fatally injured on Christmas day.

So far this month, only one person has been killed. But police and highway officials well know all the deadly factors still are pressing together to maintain one of December's worst traditions.

It will take the cooperation of every motorist and pedestrian to make sure we all have a merry Christmas and happy New Year.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Much advice is being given on how to choose a puppy as a Christmas gift, with emphasis on careful observation of eyes, legs, ears and general attiiude. Okay, but pooches need some advice on choosing an owner. So here goes for puppies everywhere:

1. Look closely at buyer's eyes, if he is a man. If they are clear and bright it indicates he likes dogs and means to take good care of you but will often battle with wife over her turn to take you out when you "gotta go."

If eyes are dull and misty it indicates he has lost many such arguments. You'll be slow getting your airings even if issue doesn't go to federal mediation.

2. Observe his demeanor. Good or bad, he will try to teach you to sit up and beg, fetch slippers and carry a newspaper. This can be pretty annoying but there is no escape.

3. Note whether he acts friendly. Even if he does so, remember you haven't seen him try to housebreak a puppy yet.

4. Note his mouth. Does the jaw protrude? This indicates plenty of arguments with his wife over her determination to let you sleep at the foot of the bed. If his wife is with him, note her mouth and jaw. It may indicate she will win all such disputes.

5. If the buyer is a woman study her carefully. If she gushes over you and makes with dog-talk, excuse it. But it may be taken as a sign she will overfeed you, tie ribbons around your neck and pick a silly name.

If she doesn't gush it indicates she prefers a cat or is choosing you to send to Aunt Minnie's little boy, Oswald, for Christmas. (Play sick or dead immediately.

This kid is getting a load of guns, guided missiles, rockets, etc., for Christmas and may try to put you in the nose cone.)

Q. DID BROADWAY show tickets ever sell as low as $2? B.N.

A. Back around 1917 most shows were a $2 top. Some hit-musicals went to $3, but in places like the Winter Garden, dropped back to $2.50. Arthur Hopkins had a $2 top on weekends but $1 to $1.50 for other nights. It was the era of Gray's Drugstore in Times Square where thousands swarmed nightly for cut-rate tickets.

A Dreaded Companion

Tighter Deportation Law Needed

By Victor Riesel

Hand me my party card. At least one Mafia chief says the newspapers in the United States are Communist troublemakers digging up all that nonsense about an invisible government and things underworld. This sage sociological analysis comes from none other than Joe Profaci, dean of the Mafia grand council and veteran of its clandestine clambakes since the early '20s.

Victor Riesel

Profaci made this observation while discussing newspaper charges that the famed Apalachin cook out was a national crime convention. All this is of interest at this minute because the Dept. of Justice has just succeeded in denaturalizing the dean.

It took almost two years to get this far. It will take years more to win a deportation order—and there you have the lead to a story which should make the congressmen's faces as red as Profaci's opinion of our journals.

For, all through the last session of Congress there was a simple bill in the hopper which could have been used to cut deeply into the labor rackets—if it had become law.

THE BILL, known as S-345, would have wiped out the power of the mob to use ancient legalism simply as a stalling tactic in deportation cases. Few paid any attention to the bill despite the Justice Department's efforts to rush it through.

So, it takes up to five or more years to move against the men who really are the powers in the labor rackets.

Joe Profaci is typical. Almost two years ago, the Immigration and Naturalization Service started proceedings against him. Profaci viewed the case with justified disdain. He knew it would take years. It has.

Yet Joe Profaci is the symbol of what has so aroused the nation since the exposures of the corrosion and corruption inside some captive unions.

Not too long ago, for example, the record shows that when Profaci was questioned he had on him "a number of cards of various union officials throughout the eastern part of the U.S."

One of Robert Kennedy's investigators learned that these were the personal cards of officials in seven locals in three international unions stretching from New York to Chicago.

WHEN KENNEDY had Profaci on the McClellan committee witness stand and asked the significance of these contacts, Profaci said it would incriminate him if he answered.

You would lose no currency by wagering that Mr. P. has contacts beyond these mentioned—but three international unions make a significant combine just by themselves.

If Profaci had been deported earlier, his influence in these outfits would have been severed. At least a minor skirmish in this vast battle would have been won.

There is the case of Profaci's colleague and fellow crime convention delegate, Vito Genovese, a gourmet who can cater to his own tastes, for he is rated by the boys to have some 30 million dollars. Maybe it's less. But it's a lot, no matter how you count what he has made out of his invisible occupation.

Years ago Immigration agents started to move against Genovese. Finally on Sept. 1, 1955, the Justice Department was able to denaturalize him.

Now, more than three years later, after many legal moves, Genovese still is free—if that's what you can call it.

HE IS IN NEW YORK Federal Court being tried on a serious narcotics conspiracy charge. It will be several more years before he can be deported, whether or not he is convicted on the current rap.

Genovese, like Profaci, just rolls on and on with his appeals. Genovese, like Profaci, has far-flung contacts in some international unions.

Literally, there are hundreds of others with similar contacts. They are deportable. If they were dispatched abroad, their influence in American labor circles would be cut. Sure there would be newcomers, but not with the power of the old black guard.

Yet, red tape has so snagged the Justice Department's powers that only 12 men of Profaci's stature (including Murder Inc.'s Joe Adonis) have been deported since July 7, 1954. If S-345 had become law, we'd have had more law and order.

If Cabinet members and leaders of the two big parties can't get together on one big anti-racket law, let's at least have a little one just to tide us over the criminal tidal wave.

Ike's In The Middle

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Republicans are rubbing their aching heads. President Eisenhower probably is too. He's in the middle. What he seems to want is peace and harmony among Senate Republicans. He's getting the opposite.

A band of 10 rebellious Republican senators have teamed up to muscle aside the conservative Republicans who have been running their show. A fight looks certain Jan. 7, when Congress returns. The rebels may be outnumbered. In all, there will be 34 GOP senators in the next Congress.

Sen. George Aiken of Vermont, 66 and no political chicken since he's been in the Senate 18 years, is leader of the rebels. They don't call themselves liberals. They indicate they think they represent the wave of the future.

They point to the November elections — which took a heavy toll of Republican conservatives—as proof the voters are fed up with conservative Republicanism.

For years the Senate Republican leadership has been in the hands of conservatives like senators Robert Taft of Ohio, William Knowland of California and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

When Taft died five years ago, Knowland succeeded him as Republican floor leader. Knowland was defeated this year when he quit the Senate to run for the governorship of Califrnia.

But the 60-year-old Bridges, even more of a veteran than Aiken with 22 years in the Senate, is still very much a powerhouse. He's chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Bridges and Knowland have differed a number of times with Eisenhower on foreign policy. But the rebels are not only trying to unseat Bridges as policy chairman and put one of their own number in his place. They're also shooting at Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois.

Dirksen, a Taft Republican and with a generally conservative record, wants to succeed Knowland as Republican floor leader, and he says he'll fight to get the job.

There's a little irony in this. Members of the Aiken group claim to be Eisenhower supporters. But Dirksen describes himself as a down-the-line Eisenhower supporter.

In recent years Dirksen has supported much of the President's foreign policy. Protesting against what the rebels want to do to him, he says "I have carried the flag" for Eisenhower "when the legislative going was rough."

Bridges, apparently very unhappy over this whole business, went to see Eisenhower Wednesday. He indicated the President had initiated the meeting. It's hard to see why, judging from what Bridges said.

He said Eisenhower "just listened" and doesn't want to take sides. There is something else hard to see too: If Eisenhower isn't taking sides, why didn't he see any of the Aiken group?

Aiken has said: "We haven't heard a peep from the White House but we would welcome some encouragement from there."

Dirksen was at the White House Wednesday, but on other business. Later he said he and Eisenhower didn't discuss the leadership fight.

Surprise For 1960?

GOP, Democrats May Split Into 4 Parties

Four political parties, instead of just two, may be in the field in the 1960 presidential campaign. It seems likely that there will be a bolt not only from the Democratic party but also from the Republican party.

Watchful Thief Takes New Battery From Car

An observing thief took a new battery from an 11-year-old auto while it was parked in front of the owner's home, police reported.

James Burk, 309 Garfield St., told police Wednesday afternoon the battery was taken from his car sometime between 10:30 p.m. Tuesday and noon yesterday.

Meanwhile, Gerald McDade of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 reported yesterday afternoon two hubcaps were stolen from his 1954 model car while it was parked on the River Rd. between Broadway and Walnut St.

Wellsville Man Fined $300 In Gambling Case

A Wellsville man was arrested Wednesday afternoon for permitting gambling.

Police Chief John Hepbner said Mona Corbisello was arrested at Corby's Smoke House, 311 Main St., when a card game was found in progress at the rear of the establishment.

He was fined $300 at a hearing before Mayor William J. Shoub.

Corby's is owned by Tony Corbisello of the Campground Rd.

The 4th St. Recreation Center was raided about a week ago while a card game was underway.

Personnel Cut Study Planned

Investigating Bureau May Be Curtailed

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence and Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti said today they expect to confer with Chief Americo J. Radeschi on changes in police department operations that will be necessary when 9 patrolmen are lopped off the payroll Dec. 31 for lack of funds.

The mayor said the problem already has been given study, but no decisions will be made pending the conference with the chief. Of 23 employes scheduled to be laid off at the end of the year, the police department will lose the most. The force will be cut from 31 to 22. Three firemen, a dog warden and 10 part-time school crossing guards also will be laid off.

The administration conceded the personnel cutbacks may force some changes in the operation of the four-man Special Service Bureau, an investigative staff set up with the increase in the size of the force. Commanded by Lt. Clyde W. Boso, the bureau also includes Patrolmen Charles E. (Bill) Tice, Thomas Walker and Lloyd Garvey.

Although only Garvey faces layoff, the city may not be able to retain all three of the others in the bureau because of the need for uniformed patrolmen, the two officials said. However, the investigative branch will continue—even if it is staffed by only one man, they said.

motion, Allison presented his written resignation to Mayor Burton Ward. He gave no reason in the written statement, and later declined to make a statement.

In other action, Council agreed to accept technical sponsorship of a proposed flood control project for Middle Run. The Kiwanis Club has been supporting the project by which a federal agency would build earthen dams on the creek to prevent flooding.

Raymond Stevens of the club advised Council last night the city would have to accept primary sponsorship of the conservation project, turning the maintenance and easement work over to the service club or any other organizations which would help.

Encil Brohard of the Soil Conservation Service has advised the service club the project could be expedited if the application from the city stated how funds for the maintenance would be obtained. It is the responsibility of the local groups to care for the dams once they are constructed.

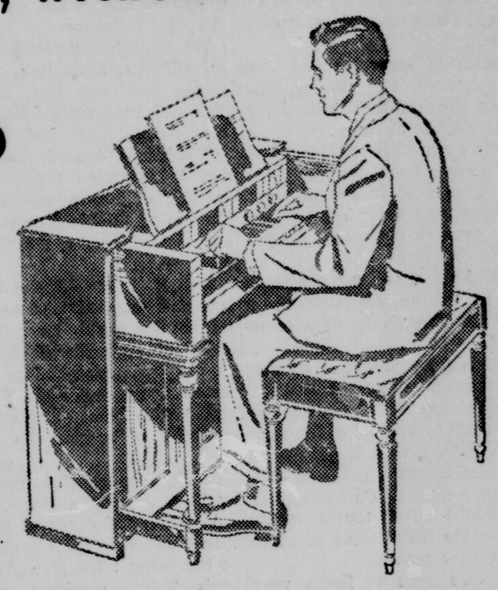
For CHRISTMAS

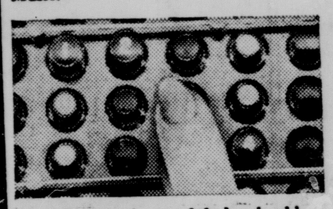
Play beautiful organ music IN MINUTES, without lessons

on the amazing HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN



Here's How!

One finger of your right hand plays the melody. If you can't read notes, you follow Hammond's easy "Picture Music."



One finger of your left hand adds a rich, full chord. Buttons are numbered, and in minutes you are smoothly playing your first piece.

Until you actually sit down and try the Hammond Chord Organ yourself, you probably won't believe any instrument can be this easy to play.

But incredible as we know it must sound, here is the truth: Thousands who couldn't read music, who never had lessons, have actually played a complete selection with full chords in half an hour or less. No, not perfectly, but pleasingly.
